

D (Decision) Day for Rockefeller and '68

By RYMAN MORIN
NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York makes his long-awaited announcement today as to whether he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for president, challenging the front-runner, Richard M. Nixon. The consensus among political observers here is that he will run. At the eleventh hour, however, a top Rockefeller aide reported, "There is still a deep division in our own ranks" about the advisability of having the governor get in the race. And in Washington Tuesday, when Rockefeller was asked about doubts that he might run, he replied: "Yes, there is reason for that." He did not elaborate. On the other hand, some senators who attended the meeting with Rockefeller came away with the impression that he has decided to fight it out with Nixon. One source said, "All the indicators were positive, none negative." Rockefeller was scheduled to announce his decision at a press conference in New York City at 2 p.m. EST today. He has three major options. They are: 1. He can leave his name on the ballot for the Oregon presidential primary, May 28, and go into the state to campaign in a head-to-head battle with Nixon. He would thus officially be in the race. 2. He can leave it there but not actively campaign in the state. He is well known in Oregon. He won in its 1964 primary. 3. He can stay out by filing an affidavit with the Oregon secretary of state, disclaiming candidacy. This would take his name off the ballot. Rockefeller indicated to this reporter a few days ago that he might have a fourth course—to take the role of a "commentator." In other words, he said, he could deliver a series of speeches between now and the GOP nominating convention in August, setting forth his position on Vietnam, civil rights, the problems of the cities and the other major international and national issues. He would delineate in these speeches where he disagrees with Nixon. He added, "Of course, the question is: How effective would that be?" Nixon appears to hold a long lead in the race for the nomination. Whether Rockefeller, by making speeches but not actively campaigning and winning the Oregon primary, could overcome that head start is the question. An aide pictured him as "agonizing for the past few days" over his decision. Nearly three years ago, Rockefeller said, "I will not now or at any time in the future ever be a candidate for president again. That's a flat statement." He made it in Minneapolis, July 23, 1965, at a governors conference. Since then, he has repeatedly disavowed interest in again trying for the GOP nomination. Nixon, however, believed all along that Rockefeller in fact would be a candidate. Rockefeller supported Gov. George Romney of Michigan until Romney withdrew from the New Hampshire primary a few days before the election, March 12. When Romney pulled out of that race, Patrick Buchanan, one of Nixon's chief lieutenants said, "We're waiting now for the other shoe to drop." In other words, Nixon expected to see the governor challenge him. Nixon recalled that John F. Kennedy, his rival for the presidency in 1960, had said no candidate deserved the nomination without running in some primaries. He noted that, "Mr. Kennedy aimed that remark at Lyndon Johnson." Johnson entered no primaries that year. Rockefeller has demonstrated his vote-winning ability three times by winning the governorship of New York, where the Republicans are the minority party—as they are nationally. Hence, while Nixon is the favorite of most GOP chiefs across the country, some question whether he could draw as many votes from independents and Democrats as Rockefeller. The governor tried to wrest the nomination from Nixon in 1960 without success. In his second effort in 1964, he lost it to Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Israeli Troops Withdrawing

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Israeli troops began withdrawing across the Jordan border late today after a savage day-long battle with Arab guerrillas and soldiers in the fiercest fighting since last June's war, an army spokesman said here. Jordan's chief of military intelligence estimated up to 15,000 Israeli troops crossed the river cease-fire line, including three armored brigades and their tanks.

Helicopters dropped paratroopers behind the Jordanian lines to strike at the bases from which the guerrillas have been making sabotage and terror raids into the territory on the west bank occupied by Israel last June. King Hussein of Jordan issued an urgent appeal to the other Arab chiefs of state to meet to discuss the Israeli attack on his kingdom. An Israeli spokesman in Tel Aviv said about eight hours after the initial assault that the invaders captured several Jordanian outposts and killed "several" Arab guerrillas. 11 Israelis killed. He said 11 Israeli soldiers had been killed and 50 wounded in the most savage fighting since the war nine months ago. The Israelis denied a Jordanian army claim that its forces had killed or wounded 200 of the invaders, destroyed 25 tanks and armored cars and shot down three Israeli planes.

"No Israeli planes have been lost so far, and our casualties are surprisingly low for an engagement of this size," a spokesman said. "Quite Heavy" Strikes. Israeli military sources said Israeli jets were in action along the border and that the strikes were "quite heavy." A Jordanian communiqué said Israeli planes bombed forward Jordanian positions, and Jordanian anti-aircraft guns responded. The Jordanians said "savage fighting was still raging all along the front." AP correspondent Roy Essoyan reported from the Jordanian side of the river that the Jordan valley presented a dramatic scene at mid-morning, with Israeli planes swooping low over the west bank and puffs of explosives clearly visible from a hilltop 15 miles east of the front. A column of camouflaged Jordanian tanks moved toward the river, the southern portion of which was shrouded in smoke. Centered Around Camp. Most of the action appeared centered around the former refugee camp at Karameh, three miles east of the river. The camp was evacuated after the Israeli attack on Feb. 15. East of Karameh, the normally quiet villages nestled in green oases, were thronged with farmers clustered around transistor radios. Military traffic moved down the two main roads from Amman to the River Jordan. Army checkpoints were thrown around Amman and most civilian traffic was stopped on the outskirts of this capital, less than 25 miles from the latest fighting. Syrian Army Alerted. Amman radio reported the army in neighboring Syria had been put on alert from the early hours of this morning. Irregular militia units were also on alert in Syria, it said. There have been no reports so far of any activity on the vulnerable Syrian cease-fire line with Israel. Israeli spokesman said Israeli units were going into action in the dusty, low-lying Jordan Valley and across the southern land border south of the Dead Sea "as they are required." Large Scale Attack. The attack apparently was on a large scale, but its exact strength was not known. Kol Israel, the government radio, said the Israeli force would withdraw when their mission was completed. But there was no indication when this would happen. The Israeli forces reported they had taken control of Karameh, the chief guerrilla headquarters 10 miles south of the Eamya Bridge and about three miles beyond the east bank of the Biblical river. Karameh is also the site of a camp housing about 30,000 Arab refugees. The Israeli radio said troops were handing out leaflets to the Arabs telling them to surrender all arms and stay indoors until further notice. Israeli sources estimate 1,000 guerrillas—most of them members of the Al Fatah sabotage and terrorist organization—are active in Jordan, with 600 to 800 of them dug in along the river. Israeli forces had pounded their Karameh base with several artillery barrages since last fall. Hussein Ignored. King Hussein of Jordan warned Arab guerrillas on Feb. 16 to stop operating from his kingdom, but Al Fatah said it would not heed the king. Hussein spoke out after the last serious Israeli attack, on Feb. 15, when planes and artillery hammered guerrilla bases and Jordanian army positions all along the river. Israeli authorities believe Hussein took no action against the raiders because he feared any move would set off riots that might topple his shaky throne. Civilians Killed. In guerrilla raids that followed the king's warning, nine Israeli civilians and soldiers were killed and at least 50 others were wounded. Tension reached a high point Monday after a Tel Aviv school bus hit a mine in the southern Negev desert, killing two men and wounding 28 schoolchildren.

Votes Lacking For Apartment

By HUGH REYNOLDS
The fate of the 12th Ward apartment proposal remains uncertain today after last night's adjournment of the Common Council which failed to vote on the issue.

Votes Not There. The Council had before it a protested proposal to rezone an eight-acre section of the 12th Ward to permit the building of 152 units of garden-type apartments by Louis J. Hess of New Jersey at a cost of $1,500,000. Due to the protests, at least 10 votes were needed to pass the rezoning petition. The votes weren't there last night. Two aldermen were on record as being opposed to the measure, Robert Schantz (R-Second Ward) and John Machione (R-12th Ward). They were joined last night by Alderman Joseph Conlin (D-11th Ward) who said he was opposed for much the same reasons as Schantz and Machione, namely, there were too many questions to be answered. Joins Dissenters. Yet another alderman joined the dissenters. Clifford Sinsabaugh of the Fifth Ward. The two-term Democrat from the urban renewal devastated Downtown section of the city said he wasn't going to vote for construction Uptown while Downtown remained a wasteland. Going into the meeting it appeared to be a solid 11-2 vote for the proposal but even that disappeared with the absence of Joseph Epstein (D-Sixth Ward) due to illness. Epstein is also a member of the Laws and Rules Committee which includes Schantz, Peter Fisher (R-10th Ward), Chairman Edward Norton (D-Seventh Ward) and Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo.

The meeting started off on an uncertain note as City Clerk Thomas R. Lyle informed Council President Gallo that the Laws and Rules Committee report on the rezoning had not been signed. The committee met Tuesday night. Three signatures are needed from the five-man committee in order to bring it out for a vote. Notes Procedure. Chairman Norton pointed out that it has been Council procedure in the past to sign committee reports during the caucuses on meeting nights. He advised that reports be signed before Council meetings in the future. Gallo agreed and called a 10-minute recess that stretched to half an hour. The question of signatures now came up. Schantz, being opposed to the measure would not sign the report. Gallo and Norton did but Fisher didn't. Fisher said that he and his fellow Republicans had agreed in their caucus that he would sign the report, thus bringing it out for a floor vote, but that when he went over to the Democratic caucus room the Dems were already back on the floor and he did not have a chance to sign. Fisher was a strong supporter of the apartments, stating in yesterday's Freeman that he had canvassed his ward and found his constituents in favor along with many residents from other wards, including the 12th. Time Running Out. After everyone was back in their chairs Norton took the floor and moved that the meeting be adjourned. This was seconded by John Naccarato (R-Third Ward). The vote for adjournment went 8-4 with Sinsabaugh, Machione, Schantz and Fisher voting against. Time is really running out on the proposal after last night's aborted attempt to pass it. Hess's petition, submitted for the second time Dec. 27, 1967, expires Monday, March 26. It is doubtful if he will resubmit and go through the lengthy process of planning board action, public hearings and Council action again. The meeting will almost have to be held Friday night if there is to be any chance of passage of the Hess petition. Saturday night is out due to the Democratic county caucus at Kennedy School to pick candidates to run in the fall. Sunday night is a Democratic party fund-raising dinner at the Fallsview Hotel in Ellenville. Monday, the last day before the petition expires, is also impossible since two supporters of the Hess proposal, Naccarato and William Davis (L-13th Ward), will be in Pittsburgh with Superintendent of Public Works Charles Cole on a solid waste management seminar.

Local Action Hints Anti-LBJ Feeling

By CHARLES BERMPOHL
An executive committee meeting of Ulster County Democrats endorsed the names of candidates seeking district and county-wide offices last night. New Paltz Democrats reflected the anti-Johnson split now dividing the massive state organization, and a Democratic supervisor took exception to the Johnson-Resnick Vietnam War stand. According to county Democratic Chairman Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, John Stuart Dyson of Millbrook will most likely become the party's choice for the five-county 23rd congressional district seat now held by Representative Joseph Y. Resnick of Ellenville. The convention, to be held at the John F. Kennedy School on Saturday, will unofficially nominate candidates. Nominations will become effective after the June 18 state-wide primary deadline. Dyson, 25, is the owner and publisher of the Millbrook Round Table, a Dutchess County weekly newspaper. He received his undergraduate degree from Cornell University and his masters degree from Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Political Science. Born in Washington, D.C., Dyson spent the last 12 years in Millbrook and has worked on Congressman Resnick's staff in the nation's capital. He is a second Lieutenant in the U.S. Army Reserve Intelligence Corps. A. E. "Al" Woolley of New Paltz was endorsed by the committee to be the party's standard bearer for the state senate seat now held by Republican Jay P. Roison Jr. of Poughkeepsie. Woolley, a professional photographer, is an official in the Board of Cooperation Education Services (BOCES). Sheriff William B. Martin was reendorsed for the position he has held the past three years and Dr. Frieda Martens of Ruby and James McCordie of Hurley were proposed as state committeemen. There were no proposed nominations for the assembly seat now held by outgoing Republican Kenneth L. Wilson. Dr. Gorman also indicated that there may be no contest for the county coroner's seat. So far, no candidate has come to the fore. The meeting was held at the White Eagle Hall in Kingston. Developments in New Paltz last night gave added emphasis to the anti-Johnson administration feud now bubbling in Democratic circles in the state and the nation. Anti-Vietnam war advocates, effectively organized by the Coalition for a Democratic Alternative, controlled most of the party's caucuses in the town's eight election districts. 1,000 in Big Sweep

SAIGON (AP) — Despite intelligence reports that many of the Viet Cong menacing Saigon have pulled back toward the Cambodian border, allied forces reported killing 167 Viet Cong close to the capital Wednesday, and 15 enemy shells landed on Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport. The Viet Cong were slain in the 50,000-man Operation Quyet Thang, the biggest allied offensive of the war. In a one-sided fight 15 miles northwest of Saigon, 142 guerrillas were reported killed against only one American and seven South Vietnamese dead. Four miles south-west of the city South Vietnamese rangers reported killing 25 Viet Cong at the cost of four wounded troops. These actions increased enemy casualties in Operation Quyet Thang to more than 1,000 killed since the sweep began March 11. Ninety-six other enemy troops were reported killed in five battles ranging north to the demilitarized zone Wednesday. One GI died in these clashes and 15 were wounded, while South Vietnamese losses were seven dead and 20 wounded. Little damage was done to Tan Son Nhut, one of the world's busiest airports, in the 15-round barrage from enemy recoilless rifles. The 75mm weapons were fired from within 1,000 yards of the field, and AC47 Dragon Ships were dispatched to hunt them. Spokesmen said results of the Dragon-Ship counterattack were not known. It was the first shelling of Tan Son Nhut in three weeks. Congressional sources report the administration may soon ask $3.3 billion more for the Vietnam war, a request likely to spark another round of war policy debate. Story on Page 36.

The recent slowdown in the fighting after the furious combat of the Communist lunar new year offensive in February was reflected in the weekly casualty report announced today. American, South Vietnamese and enemy casualties last week were all considerably less than they had been the week before. Casualties announced for last week were: American — 336 killed, 1,916 wounded; South Vietnamese — 267 killed, 962 wounded, 181 missing; Viet Cong and North Vietnamese — 3,070 killed. The figures the week before were: American — 509 killed, 2,766 wounded; South Vietnamese — 411 killed, 1,199 wounded, 98 missing; Enemy — 5,168 killed. For the first time in months the U.S. Command also reduced its estimate of enemy troops in South Vietnam, cutting it by 16,000 to 26,000 troops. The command said it estimates enemy military strength in the country as of mid-February at 207,000 to 222,000 men. The previous estimate had been 223,000 to 248,000. The announcement said the revision reflected losses during the February offensive but this had been partially offset by "recent major unit infiltration into South Vietnam." The command added that the estimate was a preliminary assessment subject to revision. In Saigon, President Nguyen Van Thieu announced he would take "urgent" steps to increase the South Vietnamese armed forces 135,000 men, bringing the government's total fighting force to 924,000 men.

Moseley Attacks Woman

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Convicted killer Winston Moseley held a husband and wife captive for more than an hour today, raped the woman and then fled in their auto mobile, police said. He carried a revolver as he left, police said, but it was not determined immediately whether he had ammunition. Moseley, serving a life sentence for killing a New York City barmaid, escaped from a prison guard Monday at Meyer Memorial Hospital.

Anglo Bank Rate Cut

LONDON (AP)—The British government cut the Bank rate today from 8 per cent to 7 1/2 per cent in the wake of Britain's toughest peacetime budget since the 1930s. The move by Prime Minister Harold Wilson's labor government is designed to make money more available for export production and investment in new plants and machinery.

Taunton Dam Breaks

TAUNTON, Mass. (AP)—The center section of a 70-year-old wooden dam across the flood-swollen Mill River collapsed today, and officials feared a dam further down stream might also give way. There were no immediate reports of damage or injuries, but officials said the heaviest damage might occur as the river crested. A 36-foot section of the 125-foot-wide Whittenton Mill Dam—about two miles north of the business district—gave way with a roar as tons of water cascaded down stream.

D (Decision) Day for Rockefeller and '68

BY REILMAN MORIN
NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York makes his long-awaited announcement today as to whether he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for president, challenging the front-runner, Richard M. Nixon. The consensus among political observers here is that he will run.

At the eleventh hour, however, a top Rockefeller aide reported, "There is still a deep division in our own ranks" about the advisability of having the governor get in the race.

And in Washington Tuesday,

when Rockefeller was asked about doubts that he might run, he replied, "Yes, there is reason for that." He did not elaborate.

On the other hand, some senators who attended the meeting with Rockefeller came away with the impression that he has decided to fight it out with Nixon. One source said, "All the indicators were positive, none negative."

Rockefeller was scheduled to announce his decision at a press conference in New York City at 2 p.m. EST today.

He has three major options. They are:

1. He can leave his name on the ballot for the Oregon presidential primary, May 28, and go into the state to campaign in a head-to-head battle with Nixon. He would thus officially be in the race.

2. He can leave it there but not actively campaign in the state. He is well known in Oregon. He won in its 1964 primary.
3. He can stay out by filing an affidavit with the Oregon secretary of state, disclaiming candidacy. This would take his name off the ballot.

Rockefeller indicated to this reporter a few days ago that he might have a fourth course—to take the role of a "commentator." In other words, he said, he could deliver a series of speeches between now and the GOP nominating convention in August, setting forth his position on Vietnam, civil rights, the problems of the cities and the other major international and national issues.

He would delineate in these speeches where he disagrees with Nixon.

He added, "Of course, the question is: How effective would that be?"

Nixon appears to hold a long lead in the race for the nomination. Whether Rockefeller, by making speeches but not active campaigning and winning the Oregon primary, could overcome that head start is the question.

An aide pictured him as "agonizing for the past few days" over his decision.

Nearly three years ago, Rockefeller said, "I will not now or at any time in the future ever be a candidate for president again. That's a flat statement." He made it in Minneapolis, July 25, 1965, at a governors conference.

Since then, he has repeatedly disavowed interest in again trying for the GOP nomination.

Nixon, however, believed all along that Rockefeller in fact would be a candidate, Rockefeller supported Gov. George Romney of Michigan until Romney withdrew from the New Hampshire primary a few days before the election, March 12.

When Romney pulled out of that race, Patrick Buchanan, one of Nixon's chief lieutenants said, "We're waiting now for the other shoe to drop." In other words, Nixon expected to see the governor challenge him.

Nixon recalled that John F. Kennedy, his rival for the presidency in 1960, had said no candidate deserved the nomination without running in some primaries. He noted that, "Mr. Kennedy aimed that remark at Lyndon Johnson." Johnson entered no primaries that year.

Rockefeller has demonstrated his winning ability three times by winning the governorship of New York, where the Republicans are the minority party—as they are nationally.

Hence, while Nixon is the favorite of most GOP chiefs across the country, some question whether he could draw as many votes from independents and Democrats as Rockefeller.

The governor tried to wrest the nomination from Nixon in 1960 without success. In his second effort in 1964, he lost it to Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Israeli Troops Withdrawing

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Israeli troops began withdrawing across the Jordan border late today after a savage day-long battle with Arab guerrillas and soldiers in the fiercest fighting since last June's war, an army spokesman said here.

Jordan's chief of military intelligence estimated up to 15,000 Israeli troops crossed the river cease-fire line, including three armored brigades and their tanks.

He said 11 Israeli soldiers had been killed and 50 wounded in the most savage fighting since the war nine months ago.

The Israelis denied a Jordanian army claim that its forces had killed or wounded 200 of the invaders, destroyed 25 tanks and armored cars and shot down three Israeli planes.

"No Israeli planes have been lost so far, and our casualties are surprisingly low for an engagement of this size," a spokesman said.

The fate of the 12th Ward apartment proposal remains uncertain today after last night's adjournment of the Common Council which failed to vote on the issue.

After everyone was back in their chairs Norton took the floor and moved that the meeting be adjourned. This was seconded by John Naccarato (R-Third Ward). The vote for adjournment went 8-4 with Sinsbaugh, Machione, Schantz and Fisher voting against.

Time is really running out on the proposal after last night's aborted attempt to pass it. Hess's petition, submitted for the second time Dec. 27, 1967, expires Monday, March 26, 1968. It is doubtful if he will resubmit and go through the lengthy process of planning board action, public hearings and Council action again.

The meeting will almost have to be held Friday night if there is to be any chance of passage of the Hess petition.

wounded, 181 missing; Viet Cong and North Vietnamese — 3,070 killed.

The figures the week before were: American — 509 killed, 2,766 wounded; South Vietnamese — 411 killed, 1,199 wounded, 98 missing; Enemy — 5,168 killed.

For the first time in months the U.S. Command also reduced its estimate of enemy troops in South Vietnam, cutting it by 16,000 to 26,000 troops.

The command said it estimates enemy military strength in the country as of mid-February at 207,000 to 222,000 men. The previous estimate had been 223,000 to 248,000. The announcement said the revision reflected losses during the February offensive but this had been partially offset by "recent major unit infiltration into South Vietnam." The command added that the estimate was a preliminary assessment subject to revision.

In Saigon, President Nguyen Van Thieu announced he would take "urgent" steps to increase the South Vietnamese armed forces 135,000 men, bringing the government's total fighting force to 924,000 men.

Local Action Hints Anti-LBJ Feeling

By CHARLES BERMPOHL
An executive committee meeting of Ulster County Democrats endorsed the names of candidates seeking district and county-wide offices last night. New Paltz Democrats reflected the anti-Johnson split now dividing the massive state organization, and a Democratic supervisor took exception to the Johnson-Resnick Vietnam War stand.

According to county Democratic Chairman Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, John Stuart Dyson of Millbrook will most likely become the party's choice for the five-county 28th congressional district seat now held by Representative Joseph Y. Resnick of Ellenville.

The convention, to be held at the John F. Kennedy School on Saturday, will unofficially nominate candidates. Nominations will become effective after the June 18 state-wide primary deadline.

Dyson, 25, is the owner and publisher of the Millbrook Round Table, a Dutchess County weekly newspaper. He received his undergraduate degree from Cornell University and his masters degree from Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Political Science.

Born in Washington, D.C., Dyson spent the last 12 years in Millbrook and has worked on Congressman Resnick's staff in the nation's capital. He is a second Lieutenant in the U.S. Army Reserve Intelligence Corps.

A. E. "Al" Woolley of New Paltz was endorsed by the committee to be the party's standard bearer for the state senate seat now held by Republican Jay P. Roison Jr. of Poughkeepsie.

Woolley, a professional photographer, is an official in the Board of Cooperation Educational Services (BOCES).

Sheriff William B. Martin was reendorsed for the position he has held the past three years and Dr. Frieda Martens of Ruby and James McCordie of Hurley were proposed as state committeemen.

There were no proposed nominations for the assembly seat now held by outgoing Republican Kenneth L. Wilson.

Dr. Gorman also indicated that there may be no contest for the county coroner's seat. So far, no candidate has come to the fore.

The meeting was held at the White Eagle Hall in Kingston. Developments in New Paltz last night gave added emphasis to the anti-Johnson administration feud now bubbling in Democratic circles in the state and the nation.

Anti-Vietnam war advocates, effectively organized by the Coalition for a Democratic Alternative, controlled most of the party's caucuses in the town's eight election districts.

Moseley Attacks Woman

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Convicted killer Winston Moseley held a husband and wife captive for more than an hour today, raped the woman and then fled in their auto mobile, police said.

He carried a revolver as he left, police said, but it was not determined immediately whether he had ammunition.

Moseley, serving a life sentence for killing a New York City barmaid, escaped from a prison guard Monday at Meyer Memorial Hospital.

Anglo Bank Rate Cut

LONDON (AP)—The British government cut the Bank rate today from 8 per cent to 7½ per cent in the wake of Britain's toughest peacetime budget since the 1930s.

The move by Prime Minister Harold Wilson's labor government is designed to make money more available for export production and investment in new plants and machinery.

Taunton Dam Breaks

TAUNTON, Mass. (AP)—The center section of a 70-year-old wooden dam across the flood-swollen Mill River collapsed today, and officials feared a dam further down stream might also give way.

There were no immediate reports of damage or injuries, but officials said the heaviest damage might occur as the river crested.

A 36-foot section of the 125-foot-wide Whittenton Mill Dam—about two miles north of the business district—gave way with a roar as tons of water cascaded down stream.

Hutton Case Goes to Court

In an action brought on behalf of the Hutton premises affidavit in support of the half of themselves and others at 172 Pearl Street from RRR Davis' action, similarly situated, Mr. and Mrs. one-family residence to C-2 Defendants are the City of Robert E. Davis of 188 Pearl Central Commercial, Kingston, George E. Radcliffe, Street, have challenged the Twenty others residing in the as city building inspector and legality of an ordinance enacted neighborhood of the Hutton Alice S. Hutton. last Jan. 3 changing the class Nursing Home have signed an A temporary stay was granted earlier this week by Supreme Court Justice Lawrence H. Cooke, sitting in Kingston preventing use of the Pearl Street property to April 5. On that day the defendants are required to show cause in Supreme Court on Wall Street why a temporary injunction should not be granted preventing any use of the Hutton property pursuant to the amendment pending the decision of the action.

In their complaint the plaintiffs charge that proper procedure was not followed in enacting the zoning change and point out that the matter had not been referred to the Planning Board nor did the Common Council find that such change would conform to a comprehensive zoning plan, as required by the zoning ordinance.

On the merits, the plaintiffs contend that the amendment fails to conform to the comprehensive plan embodied in the zoning ordinance and constitutes spot-zoning. The plaintiffs further charge that it singles out a particular parcel for a use which is inconsistent with the surrounding residential area.

The plaintiffs contend that a Central Commercial C-2 District would authorize retail stores, gasoline station, barber shops, bowling alleys and many other uses.

Representing the plaintiffs in the action is the law firm of Streifer and Barnovitz. The City of Kingston and Building Inspector Radcliffe are represented by Aaron E. Klein, city corporation counsel, and Elmor H. Nathan appears as attorney on behalf of Mrs. Hutton.

In the Davis action the plaintiffs applied for a stay to stop the building of a $960,000 nursing home on the Hutton property, which would contain an 80-bed wing.

At the April 5 Supreme Court proceeding, it is expected that a full presentation of the matter will be made to the court.

Plane Crashes

MEXICO, N.Y. (AP) — A pilot was injured Wednesday when his single-engine plane crashed in a forced landing at a high school athletic field in this village north of Syracuse.

Deputy sheriffs said Richard Berish, 35, of the Syracuse suburb of Camillus, suffered face cuts and a possible fractured jaw.

Berish told police the plane was malfunctioning and losing altitude prior to the crash.

His withdrawal leaves Thomas Mayone, special investigator for the district attorney's office, the lone GOP candidate to oppose the incumbent Democrat William B. Martin at the polls in November.

To date there has been no indication that any Democrat other than Martin is interested in the post.

Ferrigan, in his withdrawal statement issued to the press, port-

Ferrigan also stated that the "only concern and consideration" among party leaders, "has been for the Assembly candidates."

He also said he wanted to express his sincere thanks and appreciation to the committeemen and women who gave him support.

Saugerties Businessmen Review Transfer of Money

Businessmen attending Tuesday night's Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce meeting in Saugerties Savings Bank meeting rooms showed great concern in the transfer of taxpayers money for investment outside the community.

The action of Town Supervisor Michael Schovel of investing surplus town funds in U.S. Treasury Bills instead of leaving it in interest bearing accounts in a local bank was reviewed at great length.

It was brought out that the money taken out of the community can not be available locally for construction loans and thus retards the economy of the area and the home building industry in particular.

Will Hear Both Sides

Prior to taking a stand on the topic the Chamber agreed that both sides of the situation should be presented at the next meeting of the Chamber on Tuesday, April 16 at 8 p.m. Letters of invitation are being sent to officials of Saugerties National Bank and Trust Co., Supervisor Schovel and his financial advisers.

The meeting Tuesday night covered a variety of topics such as a membership campaign and a change of by-laws to permit acceptance of associate members at $5 per year, open to those persons not actively engaged in business or a profession

Engineers Set To Meet Tonight

The Civic Affairs meeting of the Mid-Hudson section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will be held at 8 p.m. tonight at the Texaco Research Center in Glenham.

Speaker for the evening will be Robert Richards, urban renewal director of the city of Poughkeepsie.

Richards, who has been the director since 1964, holds a masters degree from the University of Connecticut in public administration.

He is a member of the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials and former president of the Connecticut Urban Renewal Association.

Richards will summarize what has been accomplished to date with urban renewal, what the stumbling blocks are, and the future of the program in connection with the general development of a city.

He will give concrete examples showing progress being made to date.

owned or controlled by that person. The motion on the change in by-laws was carried unanimously. A second reading at the next meeting is required before final approval.

A final report on the Christmas street lighting fund revealed that approximately 50 per cent of the donors to the yule lighting fund were non-members. A total of $753 was collected to date. After paying the installers, less than $250 was left to add new strings and repair the ones in current use during the holidays.

Several business men wanted new strings near their places of business. It was pointed out that this could not be done unless financial support improves.

One Shaky Ground

The report of Herbert G. Lachmann of the committee indicated that the Christmas lighting project was on shaky ground and there was some talk that the project may be discontinued next year due to the lack of financial support. It was pointed out that the Village of Ellenville discontinued the Christmas lighting project sponsored by the Noon-Day Club due to the lack of support.

Arrangements were announced for the annual spring cleanup campaign. Chamber President Albert V. Conte said he will attempt to coordinate the Chamber campaign with the program planned by the Village Board. He asked all merchants to cooperate by sweeping their sidewalks and clean out debris from back rooms and cellars for refuse collection.

Anthony Francello representing Saugerties Jaycees reported on a survey of community needs being conducted by that organization.

The Chamber plans to investigate if some form of action is being taken to replace the diseased elm trees cut down along Main Street.

Slutsky Is Chairman Of Bridge Authority

Ben J. Slutsky, of Ellenville, was elected chairman and Milton Zwickel, of Catskill, was elected vice-chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority at its annual meeting Tuesday.

Cash Reserve Checking

(Another Kingston Trust "First"!)

Your Personal Line of Credit

Cash Reserve Checking is a new Kingston Trust service that lets you write checks for more than you have in your checking account. Now you can buy the things you need when you need them... even get immediate cash for emergency needs without dipping into savings.

How Cash Reserve Checking Works

Kingston Trust sets up a personal line of credit (Cash Reserve) for you in an amount from $500 to $5,000 and adds this privilege to your Regular Checking or Special Checking account. Then no matter how low your balance is, you can write a personal check for any amount up to the total of your checking account balance plus your Cash Reserve.

Say you want to take advantage of a furniture sale. You need $480, but you only have $200 in your checking account. You simply write a check for the $480, and Kingston Trust automatically advances the extra $280 you need from your Cash Reserve.

Important Advantages

1. There are no charges for the Cash Reserve feature until you actually draw upon your reserve.
2. With Cash Reserve you have money for emergency needs, and can keep your savings intact.
3. For the Cash Reserve sums you use, you pay only 1% per month interest solely on the amount you use and only for the exact length of time you use it.
4. Each time you make a deposit in your Kingston Trust Cash Reserve checking account you reduce any balance you owe and at the same time replenish your Cash Reserve. The minimum monthly deposit required is 1/20th of the Cash Reserve line when borrowing.
5. You receive a convenient, easy-to-read, monthly statement which shows both your checking account activity and your Cash Reserve use.

To Get Your Cash Reserve Checking Account

To qualify you should meet these four basic requirements:

1. Be 21 years of age or over.
2. Lived and worked in this area 2 years.
3. Be steadily employed or have a steady income.
4. Have a good credit rating.

If you are now a Kingston Trust checking customer, ask for a Cash Reserve Application at your nearest Kingston Trust full-service office. We will be happy to help you fill it out; or you may take it home for completion and return it to us by mail.

If you do not already have a Kingston Trust Regular or Special Checking account, be sure to ask for the necessary forms—we'll be glad to open an account for you.

Will Hear Both Sides

Prior to taking a stand on the topic the Chamber agreed that both sides of the situation should be presented at the next meeting of the Chamber on Tuesday, April 16 at 8 p.m. Letters of invitation are being sent to officials of Saugerties National Bank and Trust Co., Supervisor Schovel and his financial advisers.

The meeting Tuesday night covered a variety of topics such as a membership campaign and a change of by-laws to permit acceptance of associate members at $5 per year, open to those persons not actively engaged in business or a profession.

Engineers Set To Meet Tonight

The Civic Affairs meeting of the Mid-Hudson section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will be held at 3 p.m. tonight at the Texaco Research Center in Glenham.

Speaker for the evening will be Robert Richards, urban renewal director of the city of Poughkeepsie.

Richards, who has been the director since 1964, holds a masters degree from the University of Connecticut in public administration.

He is a member of the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials and former president of the Connecticut Urban Renewal Association.

Richards will summarize what has been accomplished to date with urban renewal, what the stumbling blocks are, and the future of the program in connection with the general development of a city.

He will give concrete examples showing progress being made to date.

owned or controlled by that person. The motion on the change in by-laws was carried unanimously. A second reading at the next meeting is required before final approval.

A final report on the Christmas street lighting fund revealed that approximately 50 per cent of the donors to the yule lighting fund were non-members. A total of $753 was collected to date. After paying the installers, less than $250 was left to add new strings and repair the ones in current use during the holidays.

Several business men wanted new strings near their places of business. It was pointed out that this could not be done unless financial support improves.

One Shaky Ground

The report of Herbert G. Lachmann of the committee indicated that the Christmas lighting project was on shaky ground and there was some talk that the project may be discontinued.

next year due to the lack of financial support. It was pointed out that the Village of Ellenville discontinued the Christmas lighting project sponsored by the Noon-Day Club due to the lack of support.

Arrangements were announced for the annual spring cleanup campaign. Chamber President Albert V. Conte said he will attempt to coordinate the Chamber campaign with the program planned by the Village Board. He asked all merchants to cooperate by sweeping their sidewalks and clean out debris from back rooms and cellars for refuse collection.

Anthony Francello representing Saugerties Jaycees reported on a survey of community needs being conducted by that organization.

The Chamber plans to investigate if some form of action is being taken to replace the diseased elm trees cut down along Main Street.

Cash Reserve Checking

(Another Kingston Trust "First"!)

Your Personal Line of Credit

Cash Reserve Checking is a new Kingston Trust service that lets you write checks for more than you have in your checking account. Now you can buy the things you need when you need them . . . even get immediate cash for emergency needs without dipping into savings.

How Cash Reserve Checking Works

Kingston Trust sets up a personal line of credit (Cash Reserve) for you in an amount from $500 to $5,000 and adds this privilege to your Regular Checking or Special Checking account. Then no matter how low your balance is, you can write a personal check for any amount up to the total of your checking account balance plus your Cash Reserve.

Say you want to take advantage of a furniture sale. You need $480, but you only have $200 in your checking account. You simply write a check for the $480, and Kingston Trust automatically advances the extra $280 you need from your Cash Reserve.

Important Advantages

1. There are no charges for the Cash Reserve feature until you actually draw upon your reserve.
2. With Cash Reserve you have money for emergency needs, and can keep your savings intact.
3. For the Cash Reserve sums you use, you pay only 1% per month interest solely on the amount you use and only for the exact length of time you use it.
4. Each time you make a deposit in your Kingston Trust Cash Reserve checking account you reduce any balance you owe and at the same time replenish your Cash Reserve. The minimum monthly deposit required is 1/20th of the Cash Reserve line when borrowing.
5. You receive a convenient, easy-to-read, monthly statement which shows both your checking account activity and your Cash Reserve use.

To Get Your Cash Reserve Checking Account

To qualify you should meet these four basic requirements:

1. Be 21 years of age or over.
2. Lived and worked in this area 2 years.

Warn Children of Poison

It is easy not to get excited about most of the national "weeks" we are expected to observe, commemorating such items as dill pickles.

But the increasing number of home poisoning deaths suggests one could do worse than to note National Poison Prevention Week which began Sunday.

This might more accurately be called poison control week since poisons are too numerous to do away with entirely.

Many poisons are essential ingredients in ordinary household cleaning, but none the less dangerous.

Children can and do consume drain cleaner, ammonia, bleach, fabric softener, floor wax, oven cleaner, spray starch and car polish.

More than 2,200 persons (one fourth of them under 5 years of age) died last year after swallowing similar products.

But aspirin is the leading cause of fatal poisonings among children under five.

Even putting the children out to play presents certain dangers.

Poisonous plants include belladonna, wolfsbane, acorns, Japanese yew berries, azaleas, rhododendrons, daffodils, jonquils, larkspur, wisteria and cherry blossoms.

National Poison Prevention Week is the ideal time to make sure that potentially dangerous toxic household products and medicines are kept out of reach of children.

And take a few minutes to explain to your children what sort of things must never be swallowed.

A few moments now spent on precautions could spare the life of one you love.

Fiscal Stability

The gold rush has dramatized the need for the steps necessary to achieve fiscal responsibility and both the White House and the Congress seem convinced the time has come for each of them to act.

President Johnson yielded on government spending. He let it be known that he is willing to accept a reduction of $8 billion to $9 billion in the 1969 budget in return for a tax increase.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, and Rep. George H. Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, cautiously are reviewing the situation. The President came close to conceding what Mills wanted, so that the tax chairman would report out the tax surcharge bill. That, and the fact that reduced government spending and a tax increase are now needed to restore foreign confidence in the dollar, should shake the tax bill out of the deep freeze into which Mills had put it while he awaited the spending cut.

A cut in spending of $8 billion to $9 billion, together with a 10 per cent tax surcharge that would raise another $9 billion, would slice the projected budget deficit to manageable proportions. For the first time in the last seven years, the year's deficit would be reduced instead of increased as it has been, year after year. The main reason for the gold rush was that foreigners hurried to change dollars into gold, for fear the dollar would be devalued due to continuing deficits in the balance of payments account. This disparity in turn showed up in the annual budget deficit.

Negotiations are still in the early stage, but they are seriously under way. The problem is where to cut spending. With war expenses climbing, obviously, the cuts will have to come from the domestic services. That will cut into Great Society projects, which creates another problem. But we can't have our cake and eat it too. We must make sacrifices, else the dollar will collapse and our values will all go awry.

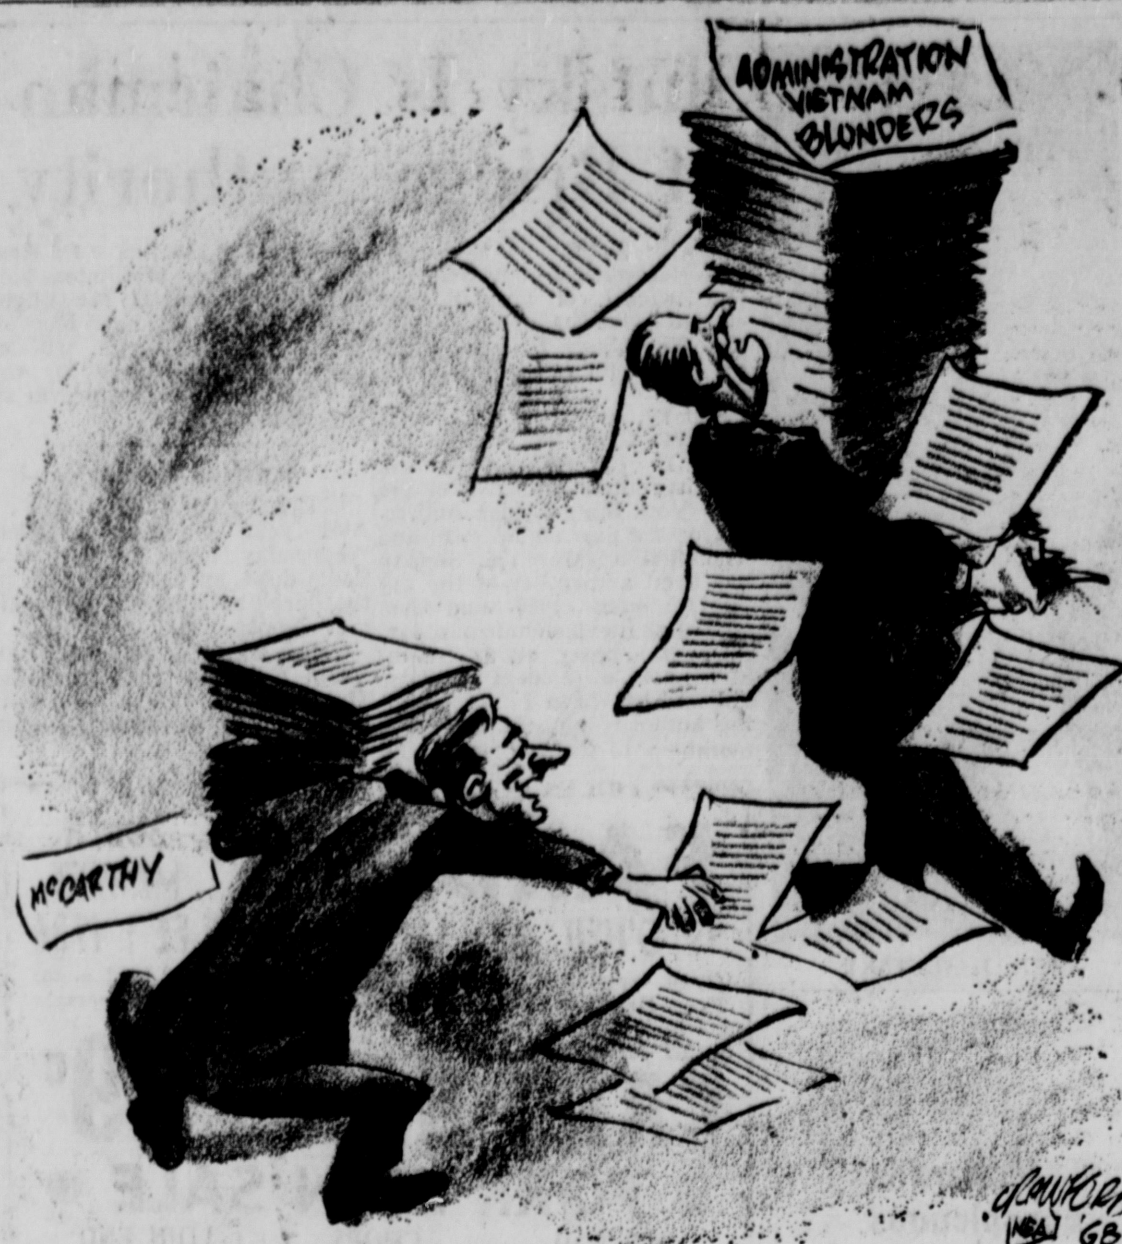

Hard Core Job Quotas

Since work is primarily to be found in business, the U.S. government has launched an ambitious program to develop 500,000 jobs in the private sector for the hard-core unemployed. The major 50 cities of the country have been given job quotas to fill.

For this summer, these 50 cities have been asked to provide 200,000 summer jobs for youth to cool slum areas, and 100,000 permanent jobs for the hard-core unemployed, by June, 1969. Another 400,000 permanent jobs are required by June, 1971.

While the private sector is to furnish the jobs and to train the unemployables for them, the government will pay the companies the costs incurred in employing disadvantaged workers to make up for their low productivity. The reimbursement will be at $3,000 to $3,500 a worker.

Costly as the program will be—between $1.5 billion and $1.75 billion—to create the 500,000 permanent jobs, it should pay for itself, even in dollars and cents, for it would change disadvantaged into taxpayers, and handouts into taxes. The summer job program has been found useful the past few summers and no doubt will be again this summer. Jobs keep mischief away.

People Shocked Over Bobby's Deal Attempt

WASHINGTON—Many people throughout the country were shocked to learn that Senator Robert F. Kennedy, Democrat of New York, had actually tried to make a deal with President Johnson to support him for renomination in exchange for a shift in America's policy in the Vietnam war. The New York senator proposed the appointment of a commission, of which he would be a member, to bring about peace in Vietnam.

The idea that changes in international policies can be formulated not on their merits but by entering into political deals to secure voter support as a sort of compensation for important modifications in the government's position may come as a surprise to the public. Politicians frequently do talk the language of bargains and trades, but usually this is related to domestic matters.

The Chicago Tribune, which has long had a record of speaking out bluntly on current issues, called Senator Kennedy's offer to President Johnson "the crassest approach to political blackmail that can be imagined." Its editorial directs attention to the following statement a few days ago by Senator Kennedy: "I made it clear (to Secretary of Defense Clifford) that if both the President's announcement of the commission and its membership signaled a clear-cut willingness to seek a wider path to peace in Vietnam, then my declaration of candidacy would no longer be necessary."

Both Senators McCarthy and Kennedy are advocating what is called a "pull-out" from Vietnam. This is softened somewhat by claiming that the intention is to get a solution by "negotiation."

Unfortunately, however, the Communists in Moscow and

The Tribune comments on this as follows:

"President Johnson rightly construed this maneuver as an attempted usurpation of the function and duty of his office. He was being asked, in effect, to yield the real authority of the Presidency to a pretender. He felt that Kennedy was trying a political power play which would bear the unmistakable earmarks of a deal in which the President would be obliged to back down under pressure and allow Kennedy to call the shots in Vietnam."

Senator Kennedy's proposal that a commission, of which he presumably would be chairman, be appointed by the President to investigate the Vietnam war was plainly an effort to get President Johnson to reverse his policies.

There are a lot of political influences at work in the operation of the American government, but no president would dare yield to political pressure on international issues. For every decision of major importance during a war is discussed not only with the military chiefs, but also with leaders in Congress from both parties. The facts of such a decision-making process can readily be revealed because so many individuals participate in it.

Both Senators McCarthy and Kennedy are advocating what is called a "pull-out" from Vietnam. This is softened somewhat by claiming that the intention is to get a solution by "negotiation."

Unfortunately, however, the Communists in Moscow and

Peking who control the actions of the Hanoi government have not permitted any peace negotiations to be started. The North Vietnamese, moreover, believe that if they keep on fighting, America will get tired of the war and pull out of Southeast Asia altogether.

President Johnson, while saying he would enter into peace negotiations, has given no indication that he would allow the American position to be weakened in any way. He has stated this week that he intends to pursue the war vigorously.

What often happens is that during a war the administration in power is so preoccupied that it doesn't make its case to the people clear enough. This gives the critics and political opponents the opportunity to promise peace without indicating exactly how the objective would be achieved.

Politics reaches into many a subject during a campaign, but to attempt to make an issue out of the Vietnam war could prove a boomerang. It would not be surprising to find the President urging that a crusade for national unity be carried on without regard to politics so that a consensus throughout this country will be shown to the world to be supporting the American policy in Vietnam. For, as Secretary Rusk stated recently to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the Vietnam war is directly related to the future safety of the United States.

Henry J. Taylor Says

Union Leaders Face Breakaway

Big labor's George Meany-Walter Reuther confrontation over AFL-CIO policies at the recent Washington conclave is merely the visible icecap on a problem deeply submerged but dramatically important in this election year.

What can be done to stop the breakaway of American labor from unionization?

Behind the scenes Mr. Meany and Mr. Reuther both realize that the floor has moved beneath them; that the social structure for unionization has changed and that the temper of the times is against them.

Today a full 46 per cent of the nation's union members earn between $7,500 and $15,000 a year and are more politically uncommitted than ever before.

In addition, union membership has been constantly and relentlessly falling behind the increase in the nation's labor force for 22 years.

This breakaway is one of the greatest unrealized stories of our day. Briefly, here are the facts. My source for these figures is the U.S. Department of Labor.

Unions today owe most of their position to the Wagner Act (1935), which forced wide unionization. Through this law, and within a sudden two years, membership increased from 3.6 million to seven million—a nearly overnight doubling of the rolls. There had never been a groundswell for unionization in the United States. This was its one and only big leap.

World War II brought an influx of New Yorkers. By 1945 the total was 53.6 million. Union membership totaled 14.3 million. By 1950 the post-war population explosion and enormous industrial expansion increased our labor force to 63 million. Union membership stayed stuck at 14.3 million. By 1960 the labor force passed 70 million. Union membership crept up to only 17.5 million.

Today we have around 76 million employed. But the AFL-CIO membership still stays stuck at about 14 million and total unionization, which includes independent unions, is about 19 million. The labor force has increased more than 22 million since the war; the union's rolls have increased less than five million.

The economy includes some 4.7 million small and medium-sized enterprises. Unionization drives have repeatedly failed with them. And the shift of our economy to service categories has further widened the union-nonunion gap. Ever since 1880 these workers have exceeded production workers. They resist unionization. Also, for the first time in our history, more wives are working than are unmarried girls. And working wives are generally regarded as the hardest to unionize of all.

The unions remain congealed at the core of our economy—steel, coal, copper, rubber, automobiles, transportation, communications, etc. This position gives unions their decisive power in economic affairs, and often in political matters, but the political power has many leaks below the waterline.

The political power of the unions, of course, is concentrated in the Democratic party

More than 200 delegates to the 1964 Democratic convention in Atlantic City were labor union officials or members.

Mr. Meany, in turn, is personally committed very heavily to Mr. Johnson. After an hour alone with LBJ recently at the White House he is quoted as saying, "President Johnson is the best President that American labor ever had."

But that's the rub. As indicated by the breakaway, no union leader can speak for American labor as a whole. In fact, union leaders are having great difficulty in speaking even for their own rank and file.

Behind the scenes the Washington conclave wrestled with this question. For the union leaders themselves are faced by a second breakaway.

Again and again the leaders say one thing and the rank and file does another. This development first became apparent in the membership's refusal to go along with the leaders' terms in settling the 1966 airlines mechanics strike, to the surprise of President Johnson, Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz and the leaders alike. Ever since the airlines rank and file flew off into the wild blue yonder this pattern of independence has taken hold again and again, most lately in the famous New York City garbage strike, which eventually involved Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The Meany-Reuther problem in making their political leadership effective at the poll is the problem of the man who continues to dance after the music has stopped and the guests have gone home.

Kennedy Pours on Heat, Sears Democratic Bigwigs

WASHINGTON — Bobby Kennedy is really pouring on the heat. Democratic Leaders all over the United States are getting phone calls, and in some cases personal visits, either from Bobby himself, his brother-in-law Stephen Smith, or other members of the Kennedy high command.

Those contacted have ranged from Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri to Gov. Harold Hughes of Iowa to the local leaders of the Bronx, Queens, Nassau, the Bronx, and Tammany Hall in Manhattan. It's in these areas of New York where the pressure is being applied most ruthlessly. It resembles the tactics of the John F. Kennedy campaign when he was hellbent to get the nomination from Hubert Humphrey, and his campaign manager, Bobby, stopped at nothing to secure it for him.

Stanley Steingut, Democratic Leader of Brooklyn, hitherto a Johnson man, has been pressured to switch to Kennedy. Steingut is obsessed with an ambition to become Speaker of the New York Assembly, and Bobby could block that ambition if Steingut doesn't switch. You can write it down that Steingut will switch.

Henry McDonough, leader of the Bronx and successor to Charley Buckley, also is being told to move over into the Kennedy camp, as is Frank Rossetti, head of Tammany Hall. Bobby was opposed to Rossetti's getting the Tammany job in the first place. Rossetti says he is torn over his loyalty to Johnson. However, the power of the Kennedy clan to punish or reward is considerable and Rossetti is wavering.

Moe Weinstein, leader of Queens, also has ambitions to be Speaker of the New York Assembly, but is not so obsessed as Steingut. The Kennedys are trying to brainwash him but so far he hasn't yielded.

If Bobby does not get these heavily populated counties around New York City, where the big blocs of delegates are, he won't control the New York delegation, and he's really pouring on the heat.

For Kennedy are William Luddy of Westchester County and Joseph Crangle of Erie

County, as well as Democratic state chairman John Burns, who faces a move to unseat him as chairman inasmuch as his announcement for Kennedy ran directly counter to the official resolution of the Democratic State Committee for Johnson. Rep. Joe Resnick has just written Burns a letter telling him to choose between being Democratic Chairman or heading Bobby's drive for President.

Last weekend Jack English, young Democratic leader of Nassau County, called a county aides together and told them they were to be for Kennedy or else. If they failed to back Kennedy, he said, he would look for new county lieutenants.

That's how tough the race for delegates is getting. Bobby Kennedy is determined to get there and he isn't stopping at anything.

White House Mail
Presidential mail has never been so vitriolic and vicious as that now being received by President Johnson. The tone so threatening that the Secret Service no longer will permit him to announce his travel plans in advance.

Newsmen have complained about the President's sudden, unannounced departures and have accused him of being overly secret and arbitrary. They don't have time to pack their bags to accompany him.

The truth is that the Secret Service has insisted upon keeping the press and public in the dark for the President's protection.

This is going to be a serious handicap in battling the combined attack of Bobby Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy in the primary campaign. The usual reaction of voters is that if a candidate doesn't care enough about votes to come to the state and ask for them, he doesn't get them.

Voters forget the urgency of White House problems and don't understand the requirements of security.

Electric Power Lobby
A sneak Senate bill to lessen jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission over electric power companies is coming up for a vote in the Senate Commerce Committee today (March 21).

Sponsored by Senators George Smathers, and Spessard Holland, Florida Democrats, it is aimed at permitting the Florida Power Company to escape power commission regulation, but would open loopholes to permit about 20 other companies to do likewise.

The bill, innocuous on the surface, would remove companies in intrastate commerce from federal regulation. Within the public utility industry, this is heralded as a chance to set up smaller utilities operating inside states, with buffer companies operating on state borders which would handle interstate ties.

Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., a staunch champion of the consumer and chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, is opposed to the bill. But it will get the OK of most Republicans, together with Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., former utility critic, but now facing a tough re-election in Oklahoma.

Most interesting vote to watch will be that of Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., who has backed the big gas interests of Sun Oil and the Pew family in the past, but who this time faces a recommendation from his fellow Republican, Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, that Republican governors study consumer problems, including the overcharge to consumers in the public utility field.

Headlines and Footnotes
Sen. Phil Hart, D-Mich., a loyal LBJ supporter, has been unable to keep his family in line. His wife, Jane, and daughter, Ann, are so opposed to the President that they went to New Hampshire to campaign for Senator McCarthy.

A secret Treasury report charges that the French Finance Ministry has been deliberately sabotaging the dollar. French finance officials, according to the report, leaked the story that the U. S. was preparing to draw one billion dollars out of the International Monetary Fund. The story, though partially true, was a deliberate distortion that caused a run on the dollar. The secret report concludes that the de Gaulle government is trying to weaken the economic strength of the United States.

Move to Trim Budget Softens Opposition to Tax Increase

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's belated willingness to trim the budget submitted last January is softening some of the opposition to a tax increase.

But it also is giving Republicans some support for their oft-repeated claim that the President is not leveling with Congress on fiscal matters.

GOP spokesmen point to the January budget message which President Johnson said outlined a tight and stringent economic program.

Subsequently, administration spokesmen defended the budget.

In testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee, Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said "the President's fiscal program represents a tough policy."

Later, Fowler and Budget Director Charles J. Zwick told the House Appropriations Committee, in effect, the budget reflected rock-bottom figures.

"We were told in almost so many words," a Republican committee member said,

"that there was no other place to cut safely; that the figures represented included no so-called fat."

May Have Found 'Fat'
But developments over the past weekend indicate that even the President may have found some substantial "fat."

Over the weekend there were authoritative reports Johnson was planning to cut requests for new appropriations for the fiscal year starting July 1 by as much as $9 billion. These reductions would be from the original requests made in January.

In a Minneapolis speech Monday the President confirmed he was working with Congress to seek agreement on major cuts. And he called on Americans to join in "a program of national austerity."

That could foreshadow even more cuts than had been planned originally in domestic spending.

The entire budget submitted in January is undergoing a review by executive agencies. One Republican usually in the know on such matters said a revised budget already is on the President's desk and may be submitted to Congress soon.

"But it will have to call for cuts of far more than $9 billion if we are to avoid economic chaos," he said.

"It may cost many of us our seats in Congress," he added, "but we are going to have to increase taxes whether we want to or not."

Forget Politics
A chronic foe of tax hikes, especially with an election in the offing, this Republican said politics must be laid aside or the nation will face a worse depression than it had in the 1930s, and it will affect Republicans as well as Democrats.

The two powerful House committee chairmen who have been conferring on economy moves, Wilbur D. Mills of Ways and Means and George H. Mahon of Appropriations, indicated to newsmen they think the $9-billion White House figure is too low. But neither would publicly cite a counterfigure.

The significance of what has happened in the past few days seems to be not that a particular depth of budget cut has been decided on, but that the long-stalled dialogue between White House and Capitol Hill on a tax increase has been resumed.

Second-Tour Orders

Editor, The Freeman:
My son, along with 4,000 others, has been sent back to Vietnam for a second tour of duty there in the Airborne Infantry. I have written President Johnson as follows:

"Mr. President:
How could you send our boys back the second time to Vietnam? They saw enough hell the first time. How could you have the heart to do this to them?"

"I go along with sending them the first time. But you had no right to send them back for second rounds. They have as good a right to live as you. They went once and came back. You should be satisfied with that. But no, you want them to try again for their lives."

"Being a paratrooper, my boy served about nine months in the First Cavalry and, approximately three months in the 173rd Airborne. While there he went out on one patrol that lasted 84 days without getting back to camp to get his boots off, or a decent bunk to sleep in. Like the others, he slept in the rain (sometimes lasting two weeks, day and night), in the mud in a rain-soaked blanket in the cold of the mountains, or in the heat and dust when it was dry, in the elephant grass or fox holes with the snakes and scorpions."

"He crawled into mountain caves and tunnels seeking the enemy. He went many times for many days in the heat without enough water to drink. He went on many missions in helicopters over hostile territory to save his trapped comrades. He was wounded once in the leg by hand grenade fragments and many more experiences too many to write about."

"How much do you think a boy should give for his country? One year there is enough for anyone to serve. There are others that have not been in combat zones and never will be. Although I would not wish that hell on any boy, they are more entitled to go than those who have already served over there once."

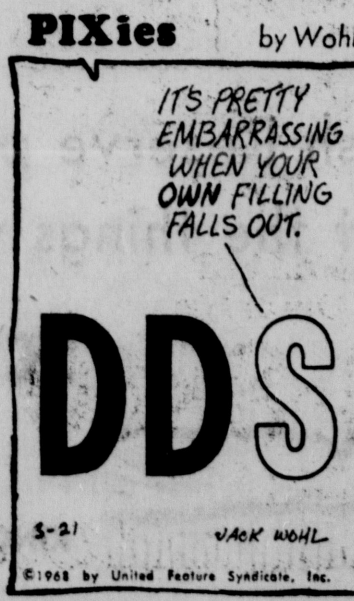

"I want my boy back now while he is alive, along with the other boys that have already served there once—no three months, six months or a year from now, but now."

"President Johnson, this letter will probably never get to you and if it did you would not read it. But I hope someone along the line will have the stomach to read it and realize this is a thoughtless, low-down deal for our boys."

"Remember, my son is not complaining about what he did or had to do, but he is not happy about going back; nor am I."

I feel sure that the other parents feel the same as I about this. I would like to encourage all parents to write the President and demand that their sons on second tours in Vietnam be brought home.

Warn Children of Poison

It is easy not to get excited about most of the national "weeks" we are expected to observe, commemorating such items as dill pickles.

But the increasing number of home poisoning deaths suggests one could do worse than to note National Poison Prevention Week which began Sunday.

This might more accurately be called poison control week since poisons are too numerous to do away with entirely.

Many poisons are essential ingredients in ordinary household cleaning, but none the less dangerous.

Children can and do consume drain cleaner, ammonia, bleach, fabric softener, floor wax, oven cleaner, spray starch and car polish.

More than 2,200 persons (one fourth of them under 5 years of age) died last year after swallowing similar products.

But aspirin is the leading cause of fatal poisonings among children under five.

Even putting the children out to play presents certain dangers.

Poisonous plants include belladonna, wolfsbane, acorns, Japanese yew berries, azaleas, rhododendrons, daffodils, jonquils, larkspur, wisteria and cherry blossoms.

National Poison Prevention Week is the ideal time to make sure that potentially dangerous toxic household products and medicines are kept out of reach of children.

And take a few minutes to explain to your children what sort of things must never be swallowed.

A few moments now spent on precautions could spare the life of one you love.

Fiscal Stability

The gold rush has dramatized the need for the steps necessary to achieve fiscal responsibility and both the White House and the Congress seem convinced the time has come for each of them to act.

President Johnson yielded on government spending. He let it be known that he is willing to accept a reduction of $8 billion to $9 billion in the 1969 budget in return for a tax increase.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, and Rep. George H. Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, cautiously are reviewing the situation. The President came close to conceding what Mills wanted, so that the tax chairman would report-out the tax surcharge bill. That, and the fact that reduced government spending and a tax increase are now needed to restore foreign confidence in the dollar, should shake the tax bill out of the deep freeze into which Mills had put it while he awaited the spending cut.

A cut in spending of $8 billion to $9 billion, together with a 10 per cent tax surcharge that would raise another $9 billion, would slice the projected budget deficit to manageable proportions. For the first time in the last seven years, the year's deficit would be reduced instead of increased as it has been, year after year. The main reason for the gold rush was that foreigners hurried to change dollars into gold, for fear the dollar would be devalued due to continuing deficits in the balance of payments account. This disparity in turn showed up in the annual budget deficit.

Negotiations are still in the early stage, but they are seriously under way. The problem is where to cut spending. With war expenses climbing, obviously, the cuts will have to come from the domestic services. That will cut into Great Society projects, which creates another problem. But we can't have our cake and eat it too. We must make sacrifices, else the dollar will collapse and our values will all go awry.

Hard Core Job Quotas

Since work is primarily to be found in business, the U.S. government has launched an ambitious program to develop 500,000 jobs in the private sector for the hard-core unemployed. The major 50 cities of the country have been given job quotas to fill.

For this summer, these 50 cities have been asked to provide 200,000 summer jobs for youth to cool slum areas, and 100,000 permanent jobs for the hard-core unemployed, by June, 1969. Another 400,000 permanent jobs are required by June, 1971.

While the private sector is to furnish the jobs and to train the unemployables for them, the government will pay the companies the costs incurred in employing disadvantaged workers to make up for their low productivity. The reimbursement will be at $3,000 to $3,500 a worker.

Costly as the program will be—between $1.5 billion and $1.75 billion—to create the 500,000 permanent jobs, it should pay for itself, even in dollars and cents, for it would change disadvantaged into taxpayers, and handouts into taxes. The summer job program has been found useful the past few summers and no doubt will be again this summer. Jobs keep mischief away.

David Lawrence Says People Shocked Over Bobby's Deal Attempt

WASHINGTON—Many people throughout the country were shocked to learn that Senator Robert F. Kennedy, Democrat of New York, had actually tried to make a deal with President Johnson to support him for renomination in exchange for a shift in America's policy in the Vietnam war. The New York senator proposed the appointment of a commission, of which he would be a member, to bring about peace in Vietnam.

The idea that changes in international policies can be formulated not on their merits but by entering into political deals to secure voter support as a sort of compensation for important modifications in the government's position may come as a surprise to the public. Politicians frequently do talk the language of bargains and trades, but usually this is related to domestic matters.

The Chicago Tribune, which has long had a record of speaking out bluntly on current issues, called Senator Kennedy's offer to President Johnson "the crassest approach to political blackmail that can be imagined." Its editorial directs attention to the following statement a few days ago by Senator Kennedy: "I made it clear (to Secretary of Defense Clifford) that if both the President's announcement of the commission and its membership signaled a clear-cut willingness to seek a wider path to peace in Vietnam, then my declaration of candidacy would no longer be necessary."

Both Senators McCarthy and Kennedy are advocating what is called a "pull-out" from Vietnam. This is softened somewhat by claiming that the intention is to get a solution by "negotiation."

Unfortunately, however, the Communists in Moscow and

The Tribune comments on this as follows:

"President Johnson rightly construed this maneuver as an attempted usurpation of the function and duty of his office. He was being asked, in effect, to yield the real authority of the Presidency to a pretender. He felt that Kennedy was trying a political power play which would bear the unmistakable earmarks of a deal in which the President would be obliged to back down under pressure and allow Kennedy to call the shots in Vietnam."

Senator Kennedy's proposal that a commission, of which he presumably would be chairman, be appointed by the President to investigate the Vietnam war was plainly an effort to get President Johnson to reverse his policies.

There are a lot of political influences at work in the operation of the American government, but no president would dare to yield to political pressure on international issues. For every decision of major importance during a war is discussed not only with the military chiefs, but also with leaders in Congress from both parties. The facts of such a decision-making process can readily be revealed because so many individuals participate in it.

Both Senators McCarthy and Kennedy are advocating what is called a "pull-out" from Vietnam. This is softened somewhat by claiming that the intention is to get a solution by "negotiation."

Unfortunately, however, the Communists in Moscow and

Peking who control the actions of the Hanoi government have not permitted any peace negotiations to be started. The North Vietnamese, moreover, believe that if they keep on fighting, America will get tired of the war and pull out of Southeast Asia altogether.

President Johnson, while saying he would enter into peace negotiations, has given no indication that he would allow the American position to be weakened in any way. He has stated this week that he intends to pursue the war vigorously.

What often happens is that during a war the administration in power is so preoccupied that it doesn't make its case to the people clear enough. This gives the critics and political opponents the opportunity to promise peace without indicating exactly how the objective would be achieved.

Politics reaches into many a subject during a campaign, but to attempt to make an issue out of the Vietnam war could prove a boomerang. It would not be surprising to find the President urging that a crusade for national unity be carried on without regard to politics so that a consensus throughout this country will be shown to the world to be supporting the American policy in Vietnam. For, as Secretary Rusk stated recently to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the Vietnam war is directly related to the future safety of the United States.

Henry J. Taylor Says

Union Leaders Face Breakaway

Big labor's George Meany-Walter Reuther confrontation over AFL-CIO policies at the recent Washington conclave is merely the visible icecap on a problem deeply submerged but dramatically important in this election year. What can be done to stop the breakaway of American labor from unionization?

Behind the scenes Mr. Meany and Mr. Reuther both realize that the floor has moved beneath them; that the social structure for unionization has changed and that the temper of the times is against them.

Today a full 46 per cent of the nation's union members earn between $7,500 and $15,000 a year and are more politically uncommitted than ever before.

In addition, union membership has been constantly and relentlessly falling behind the increase in the nation's labor force for 22 years.

This breakaway is one of the greatest unrealized stories of our day. Briefly, here are the facts. My source for these figures is the U.S. Department of Labor.

Unions today owe most of their position to the Wagner Act (1935), which forced wide unionization. Through this law, and within a sudden two years, membership increased from 3.6 million to seven million—a nearly overnight doubling of the rolls. There had never been a groundswell for unionization in the United States. This was its one and only big leap.

World War II brought an influx of New Yorkers. By 1945 the total was 53.8 million. Union membership totaled 14.3 million. By 1950 the post-war population explosion and enormous industrial expansion increased our labor force to 63 million. Union membership stayed stuck at 14.3 million. By 1960 the labor force passed 70 million. Union membership crept up to only 17.5 million.

Today we have around 76 million employed. But the AFL-CIO membership still stays stuck at about 14 million and total unionization, which includes independent unions, is about 19 million. The labor force has increased more than 22 million since the war; the union's rolls have increased less than five million.

The economy includes some 4.7 million small and medium-sized enterprises. Unionization drives have repeatedly failed with them. And the shift of our economy to service categories has further widened the union-nonunion gap. Ever since 1960 these workers have exceeded production workers. They resist unionization. Also, for the first time in our history, more wives are working than are unmarried girls. And working wives are generally regarded as the hardest to unionize of all.

The unions remain congealed at the core of our economy—steel, coal, copper, rubber, automobiles, transportation, communications, etc. This position gives unions their decisive power in economic affairs, and often in political matters, but the political side has many leaks below the waterline.

The political power of the unions, of course, is concentrated in the Democratic party

More than 200 delegates to the 1964 Democratic convention in Atlantic City were labor union officials or members.

Mr. Meany, in turn, is personally committed very heavily to Mr. Johnson. After an hour alone with LBJ recently at the White House he is quoted as saying, "President Johnson is the best President that American labor ever had."

But that's the rub. As indicated by the breakaway, no union leader can speak for American labor as a whole. In fact, union leaders are having great difficulty in speaking even for their own rank and file.

Behind the scenes the Washington conclave wrestled with this question. For the union leaders themselves are faced by a second breakaway.

Again and again the leaders say one thing and the rank and file does another. This development first became apparent in the membership's refusal to go along with the leaders' terms in settling the 1966 airlines mechanics strike, to the surprise of President Johnson, Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz and the leaders alike. Ever since the airlines rank and file flew off into the wild blue yonder this pattern of independence has taken hold again and again, most lately in the famous New York City garbage strike, which eventually involved Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The Meany-Reuther problem in making their political leadership effective at the polls is the problem of the man who continues to dance after the music has stopped and the guests have gone home.

Drew Pearson Says

Kennedy Pours on Heat, Sears Democratic Bigwigs

WASHINGTON — Bobby Kennedy is really pouring on the heat. Democratic Leaders all over the United States are getting phone calls, and in some cases personal visits, either from Bobby himself, his brother-in-law Stephen Smith, or other members of the Kennedy high command.

Those contacted have ranged from Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri to Gov. Harold Hughes of Iowa to the local leaders of Brooklyn, Queens, Nassau, the Bronx, and Tammany Hall in Manhattan. It's in these areas of New York where the pressure is being applied most ruthlessly. It resembles the tactics of the John F. Kennedy campaign when he was hellbent to get the nomination from Hubert Humphrey, and his campaign manager, Bobby, stopped at nothing to secure it for him.

Stanley Steingut, Democratic Leader of Brooklyn, hitherto a Johnson man, has been pressured to switch to Kennedy. Steingut is obsessed with an ambition to become Speaker of the New York Assembly, and Bobby could block that ambition if Steingut doesn't switch. You can write it down that Steingut will switch.

Henry McDonough, leader of the Bronx and successor to Charles Buckley, also is being told to move over into the Kennedy camp, as is Frank Rossetti, head of Tammany Hall. Bobby was opposed to Rossetti's getting the Tammany job in the first place. Rossetti says he is torn over his loyalty to Johnson. However, the power of the Kennedy clan to punish or reward is considerable and Rossetti is wavering.

Joe Weinstein, leader of Queens, also has ambitions to be Speaker of the New York Assembly, but is not so obsessed as Steingut. The Kennedys are trying to brainwash him but so far he hasn't yielded.

If Bobby does not get these heavily populated counties around New York City, where the big bloc of delegates are, he won't control the New York delegation, and he's really pouring on the heat.

For Kennedy are William Luddy of Westchester County and Joseph Crangle of Erie

County, as well as Democratic state chairman John Burns, who faces a move to unseat him as chairman inasmuch as his announcement for Kennedy ran directly counter to the official resolution of the Democratic State Committee for Johnson. Rep. Joe Resnick has just written Burns a letter telling him to choose between being Democratic Chairman or heading Bobby's drive for President.

Last weekend Jack English, young Democratic leader of Nassau County, called his county aides together and told them they were to be for Kennedy or else. If they failed to back Kennedy, he said, he would look for new county lieutenants.

That's how tough the race for delegates is getting. Bobby Kennedy is determined to get there and he isn't stopping at anything.

White House Mail
Presidential mail has never been so vitriolic and vicious as that now being received by President Johnson. The tone so threatening that the Secret Service no longer will permit him to announce his travel plans in advance.

Newsman have complained about the President's sudden, unannounced departures and have accused him of being overly secret and arbitrary. They don't have time to pack their bags to accompany him.

The truth is that the Secret Service has insisted upon keeping the press and public in the dark for the President's protection.

This is going to be a serious handicap in battling the combined attack of Bobby Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy in the primary campaign. The usual reaction of voters is that if a candidate doesn't care enough about votes to come to the state and ask for them, he doesn't get them.

Voters forget the urgency of White House problems and don't understand the requirements of security.

Electric Power Lobby
A sneak Senate bill to lessen jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission over electric power companies is coming up for a vote in the Senate Commerce Committee today (March 21).

Sponsored by Senators George Smathers and Spessard Holland, Florida Democrats, it is aimed at permitting the Florida Power Company to escape power commission regulation, but would open loopholes to permit about 20 other companies to do likewise.

The bill, innocuous on the surface, would remove companies in intrastate commerce from federal regulation. Within the public utility industry, this is heralded as a chance to set up smaller utilities operating inside states, with buffer companies operating on state borders which would handle interstate ties.

Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., a staunch champion of the consumer and chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, is opposed to the bill. But it will get the OK of most Republicans, together with Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., former utility critic, but now facing a tough re-election in Oklahoma.

Most interesting vote to watch will be that of Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., who has backed the big gas interests of Sun Oil and the Pew family in the past, but who this time faces a recommendation from his fellow Republican, Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, that Republican governors study consumer problems, including the overcharge to consumers in the public utility field.

Headlines and Footnotes

Sen. Phil Hart, D-Mich., a loyal LBJ supporter, has been unable to keep his family in line. His wife, Jane, and daughter, Ann, are so opposed to the President that they went to New Hampshire to campaign for Senator McCarthy.

A secret Treasury report charges that the French Finance Ministry has been deliberately sabotaging the dollar. French finance officials, according to the report, leaked the story that the U. S. was preparing to draw one billion dollars out of the International Monetary Fund. The story, though partially true, was a deliberate distortion that caused a run on the dollar. The secret report concludes that the de Gaulle government is trying to weaken the economic strength of the United States.

Move to Trim Budget Softens Opposition to Tax Increase

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration's belated willingness to trim the budget submitted last January is softening some of the opposition to a tax increase.

But it also is giving Republicans some support for their oft-repeated claim that the President is not leveling with Congress on fiscal matters.

GOP spokesmen point to the January budget message which President Johnson said outlined a tight and stringent economic program.

Subsequently, administration spokesmen defended the budget.

In testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee, Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said "the President's fiscal program represents a tough policy."

Later, Fowler and Budget Director Charles J. Zwick told the House Appropriations Committee, in effect, the budget reflected rock-bottom figures.

"We were told in almost so many words," a Republican committee member said,

"that there was no other place to cut safely; that the figures represented included, no so-called fat."

May Have Found 'Fat'
But developments over the past weekend indicate that even the President may have found some substantial "fat."

Over the weekend there were authoritative reports Johnson was planning to cut requests for new appropriations for the fiscal year starting July 1 by as much as $9 billion. These reductions would be from the original requests made in January.

In a Minneapolis speech Monday the President confirmed he was working with Congress to seek agreement on major cuts. And he called on Americans to join in "a program of national austerity." That could foreshadow even more cuts than had been planned originally in domestic spending.

The entire budget submitted in January is undergoing a review by executive agencies.

One Republican usually in the know on such matters said a revised budget already is on the President's desk and may be submitted to Congress soon.

"But it will have to call for cuts of far more than $9 billion if we are to avoid economic chaos," he said.

"It may cost many of our seats in Congress," he added. "But we are going to have to increase taxes whether we want to or not."

Forget Politics

A chronic foe of tax hikes, especially with an election in the offing, this Republican said "politics" must be laid aside or the nation will face a worse depression than it had in the 1930s "and it will affect Republicans as well as Democrats."

The two powerful House committee chairmen who have been conferring on economy moves, Wilbur D. Mills of Ways and Means and George H. Mahon of Appropriations, indicated to newsmen they think the $9-billion White House figure is too low. But neither would publicly cite a counter-figure.

The significance of what has happened in the past few days seems to be not that a particular depth of budget cut has been decided on, but that the long-stalled dialogue between White House and Capitol Hill on a tax increase has been resumed.

Second-Tour Orders

Editor, The Freeman:
My son, along with 4,000 others, has been sent back to Vietnam for a second tour of duty there in the Airborne Infantry. I have written President Johnson as follows:

"Mr. President:
How could you send our boys back the second time to Vietnam? They saw enough hell the first time. How could you have the heart to do this to them?"

"I go along with sending them the first time. But you had no right to send them back for second rounds. They have as good a right to live as you. They went once and came back. You should be satisfied with that. But no, you want them to try again for their lives."

"Being a paratrooper, my boy served about nine months in the First Cavalry and approximately three months in the 173rd Airborne. While there he went out on one patrol that lasted 84 days without getting back to camp to get his boots off, or a decent bunk to sleep in. Like the others, he slept in the rain (sometimes lasting two weeks, day and night) in the mud in a rain-soaked blanket in the cold of the mountains, or in the heat and dust when it was dry, in the elephant grass or fox holes with the snakes and scorpions."

"He crawled into mountain caves and tunnels seeking the enemy. He went many times for many days in the heat without enough water to drink. He went on many missions in helicopters over hostile territory to aid his trapped comrades, was wounded once in the leg by hand grenade fragments and many more experiences too many to write about."

"How much do you think a boy should give for his country? One year there is enough for anyone to serve."

"There are others that have never will be. Although I would not wish that hell on any boy, they are more entitled to go than those who have already served over their once."

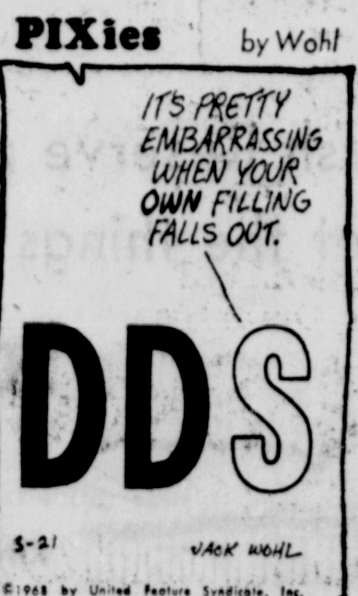

"I want my boy back now while he is alive, along with the other boys that have already served there once—not three months, six months or a year from now, but now."

"President Johnson, this letter will probably never get to you and if it did you would not read it. But I hope someone along the line will have the stomach to read it and realize this is a thoughtless, low-down deal for our boys."

Political Winds

By CHARLES BERMPOHL
(Freeman Political Writer)

The developing, perhaps overdeveloping contest between H. Clark Bell and Peter J. Savago for the GOP nomination for the state assembly spotlights, as it has few times before, the importance of the town organizations.

During the span of years which saw outgoing Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson serving also as Ulster County Republican Committee chairman, a significant contest for the assembly seat never really made its way to the fore.

Significantly, when Kingston Attorney S. James Matthews was reported willing to challenge the organization's choice for the county chairmanship, John B. Sterley, last summer, Matthews pulled out of the expected contest before it could bubble over on the convention floor.

Now, however, Ulster County Republicans are witnessing the lining up of the troops and the placing of the guns for the convention battle which will officially take place on March 25, but the actual outcome of the fight will be decided just before the delegates take their seats next Monday.

The big factor right now seems to be the City of Kingston with its 52 delegate votes poised and ready to be used as cannon fodder for either Bell or Savago. If that delegation goes into that convention as a block, or at least with an overwhelming majority of its members committed to one of the combatants, then the last act of the drama would have been played.

It is difficult to say just how the Kingston delegation will go, but insiders, close to the city's GOP organization, believe that Savago has more than an edge.

"Right now," claimed one political observer, "Savago appears to have the firm support of 38 delegates."

If, in fact, Savago does have 38 from the city, this would give him an unofficial 108. He has 76 already.

It has been generally believed that 120 votes would mean a clear majority.

There are other big delegations to be considered such as Esopus — with 14 convention votes, Marlboro and Rosendale with 10 apiece.

LONDON—By establishing a two price gold system and denying speculators continued access to the gold reserve of the United States and six leading European central banks, the seven central bankers who met in Washington the past weekend have won a welcome breathing space in their fight to avoid monetary chaos.

But while they have won a battle against the speculators and, incidentally, against French promoters of confusion, they will win the war only if the United States and Great Britain put their economic houses in order without further delay.

That was the studied opinion of economists, bankers and the more reliable British financial writers today as they studied the communique issued in Washington by the governors of the central banks of Belgium, Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Britain and the United States.

This communique announced abandonment of the gold pool, which was established in 1961 and which has been bled by speculators throughout the world via the London gold market. It is through the London market that the central banks have supplied gold from their reserves at the fixed price of $35 an ounce.

Henceforth only legitimate central banks will be supplied with gold at the fixed price and they will not be sold any gold at the fixed price to replace gold that they have sold at the free market price.

This is expected to amount temporarily to $45 an ounce. The seven central banks concerned are believed to have enough gold in their own coffers to provide metallic backing for their present rates of exchange without having to buy fresh supplies at the free rate.

The communique issued by the central bankers sought to forestall a major attack on present rates of exchange by speculators by announcing their determination to maintain present rates of exchange.

Another barrier against a fresh speculative assault on the pound sterling was the announcement that Britain's standby credit facilities would be increased from $2.9 billion, the amount established after Nov. 18, to $4 billion.

It is hoped and to some extent believed that these measures will be adequate to save the dollar and the pound provided the United States and Britain take the economy measures outlined at the Washington meeting.

In the case of the United States, an absolute "must" is the passage of legislation to increase taxes by 10 per cent. A strict curtailment of escalation in the Vietnam war is also part of the package. The United States is understood to have agreed to restrict reinforcements of American forces there to 50,000 men

In the case of Britain, the bankers made it clear that the new standby credit was being extended on the strict understanding that the budget to be announced tomorrow would be ruthlessly tough and that the labor government would take stringent steps to peg prices and incomes.

A warning to the British government to stop making empty promises and passing the buck was sounded in the wake of the Washington meeting by the mass circulation Daily Mirror, a traditional government supporter.

It specifically warned the British not to blame the United States for the recent woes of the pound.

"We may expect it at any moment now—the great alibi (or blaming the Americans) speech," it wrote.

"The object of this exercise will be to kid the public that just at the moment when the British economy was getting on an even keel (which it wasn't) the dollar crisis exploded in our face and suddenly upset everything for Britain (which it didn't). It would be fatal if the British public fell for this twaddle. The United States," it continued, "has not been blameless in this crisis. But the United States deficit has been due to civilian and military aid they have given to other countries, to the capital they have sent abroad. Much of that capital has been sent to Britain. In 1946 they lent us billions of dollars for postwar reconstruction. From 1947 onwards they poured Marshall aid into Europe to a total of 3 billion pounds. In every financial crisis through which Britain has passed since then—1951, 1955, 1961, 1964, 1965, 1966 and 1967—the first prop for the pound sterling has been dollar credits. The help given Britain in this way has helped to weaken the dollar."

Feelings of U.S. Troops

By RAYMOND R. COFFEY

DONG HA, South Vietnam—

"Chicken Little Was Right," reads the slogan inked on the back of the flak jacket of a young Marine waiting for a helicopter that would carry him into Khe Sanh.

"Young Kellys Never Die," another Marine — in his own hopeful version of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's famous "Old Soldiers Never Die" comment — had lettered on the front of the canvas camouflage cover of his steel helmet.

"Please, God, Send More Flowers and Less Marines," read the back of another flak jacket.

Here and at other frontline bases all over the northern sector of South Vietnam, U.S. troops are expressing their feelings about the war in slogans and wisecracks inked on their helmets and flak jackets.

Some are prayerful, some profane, some are full of bravado and some are edged with fear.

There is a strong religious tone in many of them — and a strongly irreligious cynicism in a few.

Some reflect the hippie influence among young Americans at home. Many make interesting reading.

"Just You and Me God, Right" is one of the legends most commonly seen on helmets. "Pray For An Early Peace," is another.

"Help Me, Ma," read the more down-to-earth helmet inscription of one Marine. "Stop. Don't Shoot. I'm Short," is a favorite inscription.

"Short" is the term that GI's use when they are close to the end of their year's tour of duty.

In the other direction are those who advertise their bravado with flak jacket slogans like:

"Yea, Though I Walk Through the Valley of Death I Fear Not, For I Am the Biggest, Baddest (Blankety-Blank) in the Valley."

Some of the things the troops say about their branch of service and the life of a man at war are revealing.

"Fighter By Day, Lover By Night, Marine By Mistake," is a common inscription.

Q — Why are certain shrimps called "ghost shrimps"?
A — Because of their whitish-yellow color. Since they spend most of their life below the surface of the mud, no protective coloration is needed.

Political Winds

By CHARLES BERMPOHL
(Freeman Political Writer)

The developing, perhaps overdeveloping contest between H. Clark Bell and Peter J. Savago for the GOP nomination for the state assembly spotlights, as it has few times before, the importance of the town organizations.

During the span of years which saw outgoing Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson serving also as Ulster County Republican Committee chairman, a significant contest for the assembly seat never really made its way to the fore.

Significantly, when Kingston Attorney S. James Matthews was reported willing to challenge the organization's choice for the county chairmanship, John B. Sterley, last summer, Matthews pulled out of the expected contest before it could bubble over on the convention floor.

Now, however, Ulster County Republicans are witnessing the lining up of the troops and the placing of the guns for the convention battle which will officially take place on March 23, but the actual outcome of the fight will be decided just before the delegates take their seats next Monday.

The big factor right now seems to be the City of Kingston with its 52 delegate votes poised and ready to be used as cannon fodder for either Bell or Savago. If that delegation goes into that convention as a block, or at least with an overwhelming majority of its members committed to one of the combatants, then the last act of the drama would have been played.

It is difficult to say just how the Kingston delegation will go, but insiders, close to the city's GOP organization, believe that Savago has more than an edge.

"Right now," claimed one political observer, "Savago appears to have the firm support of 38 delegates."

If, in fact, Savago does have 38 from the city, this would give him an unofficial 108. He has 76 already.

It has been generally believed that 120 votes would mean a clear majority.

There are other big delegations to be considered such as Esopus — with 14 convention votes, Marlboro and Rosendale with 10 apiece.

LONDON—By establishing a two price gold system and denying speculators continued access to the gold reserve of the United States and six leading European central banks, the seven central bankers who met in Washington the past weekend have won a welcome breathing space in their fight to avoid monetary chaos.

But while they have won a battle against the speculators and, incidentally, against French promoters of confusion, they will win the war only if the United States and Great Britain put their economic houses in order without further delay.

That was the studied opinion of economists, bankers and the more reliable British financial writers today as they studied the communique issued in Washington by the governors of the central banks of Belgium, Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Britain and the United States.

This communique announced abandonment of the gold pool, which was established in 1961 and which has been bled by speculators throughout the world via the London gold market. It is through the London market that the central banks have served gold from their reserves at the fixed price of $35 an ounce.

Henceforth only legitimate central banks will be supplied with gold at the fixed price and they will not be sold any gold at the fixed price to replace gold that they have sold at the free market price. This is expected to amount temporarily to $45 an ounce.

The seven central banks concerned are believed to have enough gold in their own coffers to provide metallic backing for the various currencies at their present rates of exchange without having to buy fresh supplies at the free rate.

The communique issued by the central bankers sought to forestall a major attack on present rates of exchange by speculators by announcing their determination to maintain present rates of exchange.

Another barrier against a fresh speculative assault on the pound sterling was the announcement that Britain's standby credit facilities would be increased from $2.9 billion, the amount established after the pound's devaluation last Nov. 18, to $4 billion.

It is hoped and to some extent believed that these measures will be adequate to save the dollar and the pound provided the United States and Britain take the economy measures outlined at the Washington meeting.

In the case of the United States, an absolute "must" is the passage of legislation to increase taxes by 10 per cent. A strict curtailment of escalation in the Vietnam war is also part of the package. The United States is understood to have agreed to restrict reinforcements of American forces there to 50,000 men

In the case of Britain, the bankers made it clear that the new standby credit was being extended on the strict understanding that the budget to be announced tomorrow would be ruthlessly tough and that the labor government would take stringent steps to peg prices and incomes.

A warning to the British government to stop making empty promises and passing the buck was sounded in the wake of the Washington meeting by the mass circulation Daily Mirror a traditional government supporter.

It specifically warned the British not to blame the United States for the recent woes of the pound.

"We may expect it at any moment now—the great alibi (or blaming the Americans) speech," it wrote.

"The object of this exercise will be to kid the public that just at the moment when the British economy was getting on an even keel (which it wasn't) the dollar crisis exploded in our face and suddenly upset everything for Britain (which it didn't). It would be fatal if the British public fell for this twaddle."

"The United States," it continued, "has not been blameless in this crisis. But the United States deficit has been due to civilian and military aid they have given to other countries, to the capital they have sent abroad. Much of that capital has been sent to Britain. In 1946 they lent us dollars to the value of 1.2 billion pounds for postwar reconstruction. From 1947 onwards they poured Marshall aid into Europe to a total of 3 billion pounds. In every financial crisis through which Britain has passed since then — 1951, 1955, 1961, 1964, 1965, 1966 and 1967—the first prop for the pound sterling has been dollar credits. The help given Britain in this way has helped to weaken the dollar."

Feelings of U.S. Troops

By RAYMOND R. COFFEY
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

DONG HA, South Vietnam—"Chicken Little Was Right," reads the slogan inked on the back of the flak jacket of a young Marine waiting for a helicopter that would carry him into Khe Sanh.

"Young Kellys Never Die," another Marine—in his own hopeful version of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's famous "Old Soldiers Never Die" comment—had lettered on the front of the canvas camouflage cover of his steel helmet.

"Please God, Send More Flowers and Less Marines," read the back of another flak jacket.

Here and at other frontline bases all over the northern sector of South Vietnam, U.S. troops are expressing their feelings about the war in slogans and wisecracks inked on their helmets and flak jackets.

Some are prayerful, some profane, some are full of bravado and some are edged with fear.

There is a strong religious tone in many of them—and a strongly irreligious cynicism in a few.

Some reflect the hippie influence among young Americans at home. Many make interesting reading.

"Just You and Me God, Right" is one of the legends most commonly seen on helmets. "Pray For An Early Peace" is another.

"Help Me, Ma," read the more down-to-earth helmet inscription of one Marine.

"Stop. Don't Shoot. I'm Short," is a favorite inscription.

"Short" is the term that GI's use when they are close to the end of their year's tour of duty.

In the other direction are those who advertise their bravado with flak jacket slogans like:

"Yea, Though I Walk Through the Valley of Death I Fear Not, For I Am the Biggest, Baddest (Blankety-Blank) in the Valley."

Some of the things the troops say about their branch of service and the life of a man at war are revealing.

"Fighter By Day, Lover By Night, Marine By Mistake," is a common inscription.

Dutchess Dems Welcome RFK Into Ranks

The Dutchess County Democratic Party "welcomed" Sen. Robert F. Kennedy into the growing ranks of those who are opposed to the Johnson administration's Vietnam War policies, but they continued their lineup behind Sen. Eugene McCarthy's (D-Minn.) bid for the Presidential nomination.

A statement by the group's executive committee had it that, "This organization was founded on the premise that McCarthy was the one to oppose Johnson. Funds have been raised for McCarthy and our candidates for delegates to the national convention will be pledged to McCarthy."

Candidates endorsed by the committee to be delegates to the national convention included Mrs. Tobie Geertsema of Woodstock. Each potential candidate must collect 5,000 signatures on a petition for his name to be on the June 18 primary ballot.

Police Make Drug Arrest

Thruway State Police in this area continued Wednesday night to chalk up arrests of persons caught with marijuana or other drugs in their possession as they drive along the superhighway.

Trooper Robert Houghtaling was on patrol in the vicinity of the Town of Kingston when he stopped a vehicle to make a routine check of the operator. Investigation by the trooper resulted in the arrest of Harold E. Reinke, 20, of Eastview Lane, Glen Head, Nassau County.

State Police said Reinke was in possession of one-fourth ounce of drugs—marijuana. The youth was taken before Kingston Town Justice Robert Ferrigan to face a charge of criminal possession of a dangerous drug. Reinke waived his right to a preliminary hearing and was committed to the county jail pending action by the grand jury.

According to troopers, Reinke was AWOL from an Army post in Alabama. BCI Investigator Fred Cooper notified the U.S. Army authorities that Reinke was in custody.

The arrest last night was the fifth made by Thruway troopers involving criminal possession of dangerous drugs. Earlier in the day Trooper J. W. Gallati took four men in custody after he stopped their car south of Albany and found them in possession of four ounces of marijuana.

More Arrests In Connection With Burglary

The arrest of two Kingston youths in a stolen vehicle Wednesday by a sheriff's deputy following a high speed chase through the Town of Ulster led to the arrest of three more youths in connection with a burglary at Fallsburgh Bottling Co., Albany Avenue Extension.

Deputy Gerald Miller booked William Pendell, 20, of Franklin Street, and Michael R. Mentess, 17, of Adams Street, on charges of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Sheriff William B. Martin, Investigator Harold T. Bowers, Deputy Miller and State Police BCI Investigator Joseph Frank later yesterday charged Pendell, Mentess and three others on charges of grand larceny, third degree in connection with the theft of 12 cases of beer from the Albany Avenue bottling firm.

The others are Stephen J. Stokes, 17, of Furnace Street; Robert J. Perry, 18, of Route 4, Saugerties and Ernest C. Bodie, 21, of Hunter Street, city. Perry and Stokes were arrested before Ulster Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly where they pleaded guilty to criminal trespass, third degree and petit larceny. They were termed youth offenders and given a one year suspended jail sentence and permitted to make full restitution. Stokes was ordered to return to military service when it was determined that he was absent without leave from his army base.

Stokes was apprehended again this morning by city police and is being held in city jail for U.S. Army authorities.

Pendell pleaded guilty at arraignment before Justice Reilly and was remanded to jail in lieu of $500 bail pending a hearing on March 27 at 3 p. m. before Justice Reilly.

Bodie facing burglary, third charges, was arraigned before Town of Kingston Justice Robert Ferrigan and was remanded to jail for hearing today before Justice Reilly. He was apprehended by City Detective Leonard Ellsworth, Deputy Robert Jordan and Investigator Bowers of the Sheriff's Office.

Sullivan Man Killed in Crash

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP)—Sherman Akers Jr., 22, of Monticello, was killed near this Sullivan County community when the van-type truck he was driving crashed today.

State police said Akers failed to negotiate a curve and the truck went off the road, hit a concrete abutment, went back on the road and flipped over, crushing Akers. He was alone. Akers lived at 18 Hammond St.

Local Action . . .

and the outcome was that 18 of the 24 delegates to be sent to the March 23 unofficial convention will be CDA proponents.

Informal sources told The Freeman that although the caucus was well run, without "the pulling of hair," district committeemen were "shocked" at the outcome.

Allegedly, 15 of the 16 committeemen are Johnson-Resnick supporters.

Another meeting was scheduled to take place at 4 p. m. yesterday at the home of Dr. Gorman. The meeting was to include the county chairmen of the 28th congressional district, or from Columbia, Dutchess, Greene, Schoharie, and Ulster Counties.

The meeting was called off, and insiders say the reason was the Chairman Larry Novak of Columbia, George Whalen of Dutchess, and James O'Connell of Greene are Sen. Robert F. Kennedy supporters, whereas Dr. Gorman is a Johnson man.

The five counties will be allowed to select three men to be sent as delegates to the Democratic National Convention and a battle is shaping up as to whom they will support—President Johnson, Senator Kennedy or Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota.

The Town of Hurley's Democratic supervisor, Robert Schneller, proposed "a local rebuttal" to the Johnson-Resnick Vietnam War stand and also to the support given to that stand by Democratic Chairman Gorman.

"The most important thing of all has been overlooked," observed Schneller. "Four years ago, the people of America voted overwhelmingly for Mr. Johnson, who seemed to represent hope and a truly humane outlook toward domestic and world affairs, particularly the Vietnam Civil War problem."

The Hurley supervisor went on to say, "The Vietnam War is administration policy, but not rank and file policy, which was so ably demonstrated by (Sen.) Eugene McCarthy in the New Hampshire primary."

Schneller claimed that "the most ridiculous statements of all have come from the hangers-on of Johnson coattails—that there is a personal vendetta to get Johnson."

The Hurley Democrat declared that the Johnson administration "is sacrificing a nation and despoiling the youth and resources of our own."

Will Proceed With Petitions

Jay Kosseloff, seeking the Liberal Party endorsement for state senator in the 38th senatorial district (Dutchess, Ulster Counties) accused his Liberal rival of misleading members of the "Black Community" with remarks indicating "that he is a bigot."

Kosseloff also accused Joseph Marvella of Poughkeepsie of signing "the nominating petition" for last year's Conservative candidate for New York governor.

The Liberal claimed he was "proceeding with plans for the circulation of petitions of nomination. Liberals are entitled to a hard hitting campaigner who does not have to refer to his speech writer to take his positions for him."

Kosseloff said that he would soon "express my position to the watered down Civil Rights bill in which minority people do not receive a decent shake and will fight to see that in our state they will receive what is due them."

"I have expressed my approval of the report presented by the President's riot commission," said the state senate hopeful, "but it now becomes important that its recommendations be implemented so that the term 'second-class citizen' becomes a term for the history books."

In addition, White said that proponents of the tax have been saying that property owners cannot continue to carry the burden of taxation. White concurred with this viewpoint, however, he pointed out that practically all property owners are also consumers and that these same people would pay both taxes, if a sales tax were enacted.

White also criticized the Kingston City Council for hastily adopting a city sales tax in hopes that the county would be forced to follow suit. The council in taking this action has penalized businessmen in the city and this will undoubtedly lead to a substantial number of consumers who will do business outside the city limits.

White Against County Levy

Ninth District Legislator Brian White today issued a statement opposing the proposed county sales tax and urging those in opposition to attend the public information meeting on the proposal April 8 at the county court house.

The Republican legislator said that after speaking with many constituents and fellow legislators, he has decided to oppose the sales tax proposal for the county. He also urged all interested residents to attend the informational session set up by the Tax Base Study Committee of the Legislature.

White said that proponents of the tax had initially cited a need for it in lieu of state mandated increases in social services, particularly Medicaid. Property taxes have already been raised to cover these increased expenditures for the coming year and the State Legislature has recently reduced Medicaid costs by 302 million dollars; therefore, the need for the tax on these grounds has been eliminated.

White also criticized the Kingston City Council for hastily adopting a city sales tax in hopes that the county would be forced to follow suit. The council in taking this action has penalized businessmen in the city and this will undoubtedly lead to a substantial number of consumers who will do business outside the city limits.

Dutchess Dems Welcome RFK Into Ranks

The Dutchess County Democratic Party "welcomed" Sen. Robert F. Kennedy into the growing ranks of those who are opposed to the Johnson administration's Vietnam War policies, but they continued their lineup behind Sen. Eugene McCarthy's (D-Minn.) bid for the Presidential nomination.

A statement by the group's executive committee had it that, "This organization was founded on the premise that McCarthy was the one to oppose Johnson. Funds have been raised for McCarthy and our candidates for delegates to the national convention will be pledged to McCarthy."

Candidates endorsed by the committee to be delegates to the national convention included Mrs. Tobie Geertsema of Woodstock. Each potential candidate must collect 5,000 signatures on a petition for his name to be on the June 18 primary ballot.

Police Make Drug Arrest

Thruway State Police in this area continued Wednesday night to chalk up arrests of persons caught with marijuana or other drugs in their possession as they drive along the superhighway.

Trooper Robert Houghtaling was on patrol in the vicinity of the Town of Kingston when he stopped a vehicle to make a routine check of the operator.

Investigation by the trooper resulted in the arrest of Harold E. Reinke, 20, of Eastview Lane, Glen Head, Nassau County.

State Police said Reinke was in possession of one-fourth ounce of drugs — marijuana. The youth was taken before Kingston Town Justice Robert Ferrigan to face a charge of criminal possession of a dangerous drug. Reinke waived his right to a preliminary hearing and was committed to the county jail pending action by the grand jury.

According to troopers, Reinke was AWOL from an Army post in Alabama. BCI Investigator Fred Cooper notified the U.S. Army authorities that Reinke was in custody.

The arrest last night was the fifth made by Thruway troopers, involving criminal possession of dangerous drugs. Earlier in the day Trooper J. W. Gallilei took four men in custody after he stopped their car south of Albany and found them in possession of four ounces of marijuana.

More Arrests In Connection With Burglary

The arrest of two Kingston youths in a stolen vehicle Wednesday by a sheriff's deputy following a high speed chase through the Town of Ulster led to the arrest of three more youths in connection with a burglary at Fallsburgh Bottling Co., Albany Avenue Extension.

Deputy Gerald Miller booked William Pendell, 20, of Franklin Street, and Michael R. Mentessi, 17, of Adams Street, on charges of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Sheriff William B. Martin, Investigator Harold T. Bowers, Deputy Miller and State Police BCI Investigator Joseph Franke later yesterday charged Pendell, Mentessi and three others on charges of grand larceny, third degree in connection with the theft of 12 cases of beer from the Albany Avenue bottling firm.

The others are Stephen J. Stokes, 17, of Furnace Street; Robert J. Perry, 18, of Route 4, Saugerties and Ernest C. Bodie, 21, of Hunter Street, city. Perry and Stokes were arraigned before Ulster Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly where they pleaded guilty to criminal trespass, third degree and petit larceny. They were termed youthful offenders and given a one year suspended jail sentence and permitted to make full restitution. Stokes was ordered to return to military service when it was determined that he was absent without leave from his army base.

Stokes was apprehended again this morning by city police and is being held in city jail for U.S. Army authorities.

Pendell pleaded guilty to arraignment before Justice Reilly and was remanded to jail in lieu of $500 bail pending a hearing on March 27 at 3 p. m. before Justice Reilly.

Bodie facing burglary, third charges, was arraigned before Town of Kingston Justice Robert Ferrigan and was remanded to jail for hearing today before Justice Reilly. He was apprehended by City Detective Leonard Ellsworth, Deputy Robert Jordan and Investigator Bowers of the Sheriff's Office.

Sullivan Man Killed in Crash

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — Sherman Akers Jr., 22, of Monticello, was killed near this Sullivan County community when the van-type truck he was driving crashed today.

State police said Akers failed to negotiate a curve and the truck went off the road, hit a concrete abutment, went back on the road and flipped over, crushing Akers. He was alone.

Akers lived at 18 Hammond St.

Mentessi, injured in the crash yesterday following the chase in a Kingston Hospital and faces charges when he is discharged.

Authorities said the youths and the outcome was that 18 of the 24 delegates to be sent to the March 23 unofficial convention will be CDA proponents.

Informal sources told The Freeman that although the caucus was well run, without "the pulling of hair," district committeemen were "shocked" at the outcome.

Allegedly, 15 of the 16 committeemen are Johnson-Resnick supporters.

Another meeting was scheduled to take place at 4 p. m. yesterday at the home of Dr. Gorman. The meeting was to include the county chairmen of the 28th congressional district, or, from Columbia, Dutchess, Greene, Schoharie, and Ulster Counties.

The meeting was called off, and insiders say the reason was the Chairman Larry Novak of Columbia, George Whalen, of Dutchess, and James O'Connell of Greene are Sen. Robert F. Kennedy supporters, whereas Dr. Gorman is a Johnson man.

The five counties will be allowed to select three men to be sent as delegates to the Democratic National Convention and a battle is shaping up as to whom they will support—President Johnson, Senator Kennedy or Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota.

The Town of Hurley's Democratic supervisor, Robert Schneller, proposed "a local rebuttal" to the Johnson-Resnick Vietnam War stand and also to the support given to that stand by Democratic Chairman Gorman.

"The most important thing of all has been overlooked," observed Schneller. "Four years ago, the people of America voted overwhelmingly for Mr. Johnson, who seemed to represent hope and a truly humane outlook toward domestic and world affairs, particularly the Vietnam Civil War problem."

The Hurley supervisor went on to say, "The Vietnam War is administration policy, but rank and file policy, which was so ably demonstrated by (Sen.) Eugene McCarthy in the New Hampshire primary."

Schneller claimed that "the most ridiculous statements of all have come from the hang-ers-on of Johnson coalitions; that there is a personal vendetta to get Johnson."

The Hurley Democrat declared that the Johnson administration "is sacrificing a nation and despoiling the youth and resources of our own."

with others still at large participated in a beer party in the railroad yards at Connelly. Mentessi, driving the stolen vehicle with Pendell as his passenger, were, according to authorities, coming from the beer party when apprehended by Deputy Miller. The chase ended when Mentessi lost control of the vehicle and hit some trees along Schoolhouse Road near High Woods.

Shirley Coundes of Connelly is the owner of the stolen vehicle. Pendell was reportedly admitted to Kingston Hospital today.

Will Proceed With Petitions

Jay Kosseff, seeking the Liberal Party endorsement for state senator in the 38th senatorial district (Dutchess, Ulster Counties) accused his Liberal rival of misleading members of the "Black Community" with remarks indicating "that he is a bigot."

Kosseff also accused Joseph Marvella of Poughkeepsie of signing "the nominating petition" for last year's Conservative candidate for New York governor.

The Liberal claimed he was "proceeding with plans for the circulation of petitions of nomination. Liberals are entitled to a hard hitting campaigner who does not have to refer to his speech writer to take his positions for him."

Kosseff said that he would soon "express my position to the watered down Civil Rights bill in which minority people do not receive a decent shake and will fight to see that in our state they will receive what is due them."

"I have expressed my approval of the report presented by the President's riot commission," said the state senate hopeful, "but it now becomes important that its recommendations be implemented so that the term second-class citizen becomes a term for the history books."

White also criticized the Kingston City Council for hastily adopting a city sales tax in hopes that the county would be forced to follow suit. The council in taking this action has penalized businessmen in the city and this will undoubtedly lead to a substantial number of consumers who will do business outside the city limits.

In addition, White said that proponents of the tax have been saying that property owners cannot continue to carry the burden of taxation. White concurred with this viewpoint, however, he pointed out that practically all property owners are also consumers and that these same people would pay both taxes, if a sales tax were enacted.

White Against County Levy

Ninth District Legislator Brian White today issued a statement opposing the proposed county sales tax and urging those in opposition to attend the public information meeting on the proposal April 8 at the county court house.

The Republican legislator said that after speaking with many constituents and fellow legislators, he has decided to oppose the sales tax proposal for the county. He also urged all interested residents to attend the informational session set up by the Tax Base Study Committee of the Legislature.

White said that proponents of the tax had initially cited a need for it in lieu of state mandated increases in social services, particularly Medicaid. Property taxes have already been raised to cover these increased expenditures for the coming year and the State Legislature has recently reduced Medicaid costs by 302 million dollars; therefore, the need for the tax on these grounds has been eliminated.

White also criticized the Kingston City Council for hastily adopting a city sales tax in hopes that the county would be forced to follow suit. The council in taking this action has penalized businessmen in the city and this will undoubtedly lead to a substantial number of consumers who will do business outside the city limits.

Grand Opening

Celebration of

Varsity Shop

31 N. Front Street, Kingston, N.Y.

Friday, March 22 thru Saturday, March 30

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar B. London, flanked by sons Arthur (l.) and Stanley (r.), are inviting one and all to participate in the wonderful Grand Opening celebration they have planned for the Varsity Shop this weekend and all next week. They are extremely proud of their new store and wish to personally show it to the people of this area. A cordial invitation is extended to you to see the grand new London store described on this page.

We take great pride in introducing London's Varsity Shop to the people of this area. The many months of planning, contracting, buying and outfitting have produced a dream of a young man's center that has even gone beyond our own expectations. The store embodies all that is new in the merchandising outlook of today. From the gorgeous golden brown carpeting on the floor to the luminated lowered ceiling, you will find the store just beams with "topics to talk about." For instance, on the paneled walls are displayed items that excite a young man on sight . . . old swords, a mace, a model sailing vessel and other masculine appointments.

We have spared no expense to make your shopping a pleasure and your visit a memorable occasion. Our many displays are arranged to give you an instant look at some of the most fashionable young men's clothing advertised today. You can be sure that the styles are what the "in" crowd will be wearing during the various fashion seasons in the months ahead.

Our clothing suppliers are as enthusiastic as we are about the Varsity Shop. As you can see by the impressive list of Grand Opening Prizes listed on this page, the cooperation of these vendors rendered in bringing the ultimate to you at this time is very heartwarming.

We at London's cordially invite one and all to attend our Grand Opening celebration and join in the excitement of the occasion starting at 9:00 tomorrow morning.

Grand Opening
Celebration of London's
Varsity Shop
 31 N. Front Street, Kingston, N.Y.

Friday, March 22 thru Saturday, March 30

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar B. London, flanked by sons Arthur (l.) and Stanley (r.), are inviting one and all to participate in the wonderful Grand Opening celebration they have planned for the Varsity Shop this weekend and all next week. They are extremely proud of their new store and wish to personally show it to the people of this area. A cordial invitation is extended to you to see the grand new London store described on this page.

We take great pride in introducing London's Varsity Shop to the people of this area. The many months of planning, contracting, buying and outfitting have produced a dream of a young man's center that has even gone beyond our own expectations. The store embodies all that is new in the merchandising outlook of today. From the gorgeous golden brown carpeting on the floor to the luminated lowered ceiling, you will find the store just beams with "topics to talk about." For instance, on the paneled walls are displayed items that excite a young man on sight . . . old swords, a mace, a model sailing vessel and other masculine appointments.

We have spared no expense to make your shopping a pleasure and your visit a memorable occasion. Our many displays are arranged to give you an instant look at some of the most fashionable young men's clothing advertised today. You can be sure that the styles are what the "in" crowd will be wearing during the various fashion seasons in the months ahead.

Our clothing suppliers are as enthusiastic as we are about the Varsity Shop. As you can see by the impressive list of Grand Opening Prizes listed on this page, the cooperation of these vendors rendered in bringing the ultimate to you at this time is very heartwarming.

We at London's cordially invite one and all to attend our Grand Opening celebration and join in the excitement of the occasion starting at 9:00 tomorrow morning.

Enrollees Up For Medicare

Nearly half a million older people not previously enrolled under Medicare, some still need have signed up for the voluntary order to take action by April 1, in doctor bill insurance under Medicare since the start of the current open enrollment period, last October 1, George J. Habernig, Kingston social security district manager, noted today.

Although most older people in Ulster County are now enrolled in the program that supplements their basic hospital insurance, those not yet enrolled for the doctor bill insurance, and for whom the Social Security Administration had addresses, received a reminder letter from the Commissioner of Social Security. Along with the letter was a card for the person to send back, marked "yes" or "no."

Older people not signed up for the voluntary medical insurance who did not receive such a letter and card were urged to get in touch with their social security district offices.

Fingerprints Hit All-Time Record At State Bureau

Fingerprints submitted to the New York State Identification and Intelligence System in Albany reached an all time high in 1967, according to annual figures released today by Director Robert R. J. Gallati.

The figures show that 330,967 sets of fingerprints were received last year, as compared to 299,029 in 1966, an increase of nearly 11 per cent.

Director Gallati noted that of the total fingerprints received those of 1,291 dead persons and in 1967, approximately 55 per cent were of a non-criminal nature, primarily applicants for various types of licenses or employment. In releasing the figures for 1967, Gallati pointed out that employees of the Bureau of Identification in NYSIS were successful in identifying 136,492/22,000 fingerprints cards were well over 50,000 in 1968.

Transmission of a fingerprint simple station in the state, he said, takes only 14 minutes. Starting April 1, 1968, as announced by Gov. Rockefeller recently in his special message to the legislature on crime, NYSIS will provide criminal identification services to local law enforcement agencies on an around-the-clock basis, and facilitate transmissions of fingerprints are expected to jump to

Two Are Sentenced In County Court

Prison sentences were meted out by County Judge Raymond J. Mino on Wednesday for two defendants, and a 21-year-old Saugerties man was sentenced to the county jail for six months after admitting charges involving the taking of an automobile.

Judge Mino marked several cases on the ready for trial calendar and adjourned other cases until April 1, the opening of the April term of county court.

During the afternoon Judge Mino heard a half dozen Youthful Offender cases in chambers. Assistant District Attorney Robert A. MacKinnon represented District Attorney Joseph P. Torracca in all cases called yesterday.

Richard William Smith, 53, of 231 Albany Avenue, who previously pleaded guilty to two counts of incest involving 13- and 14-year-old girls was sentenced on each of the counts to an indeterminate term with a maximum of four years in Clinton Prison at Dannemora. Judge Mino ruled that the sentences run consecutively. Smith has been confined in jail the last 121 days.

H. Clark Bell, attorney for Smith, referred to medical and psychiatric reports that had been filed with the court in his plea for leniency.

Marvin Russell Weatherford, 41, of Lake Minnewaska, was sentenced to Clinton Prison for a term of 2½ to 5 years at hard labor, after pleading guilty to a second offender information filed by the office of District Attorney Joseph P. Torracca.

The information noted that on June 7, 1962, Weatherford was convicted in U.S. District Court in Atlanta, Ga., of uttering a $50 U.S. Treasury check. The defendant had previously pleaded guilty here to a reduced charge of attempted assault, second degree.

Weatherford and a New Paltz woman had been indicted last November on charges of robbery and second degree assault involving the alleged assault upon Louis Burbich an employee of Lake Mohonk last Aug. 13. Burbich told authorities he was robbed of his wallet containing $40. Attorney William C. Mulany appeared as counsel for Weatherford.

Richard Leslie Turk, 21, of Route 1, Saugerties, who was indicted for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle belonging to Martha Brink, withdrew a previous plea of innocent and pleaded guilty to the indictment. Judge Mino sentenced him to six months in the county jail. Charles H. Gaffney, appeared as counsel for the defendant.

Irva James Allen, of Kingston pleaded guilty to unlawfully entering the enclosure of a building at Dietz's Mobil Gas Station in the Town of Ulster on March 3, 1967. Judge Mino adjourned sentencing to April 1 at 2 p. m. Richard W. Griggs appeared as attorney for the defendant.

Allen had been indicted on charges of third degree burglary and unlawful entry. Raymond Smith, who was indicted on a charge of third degree grand larceny, was granted an adjournment until April 1 to obtain counsel. The felony charge accused the defendant of taking 688 pounds of bronze scrap metal from Hercules plant in Port Ewen last Nov. 11. The metal was valued at $271.20.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved upward slightly in fairly active trading early Thursday.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up 1.50 at 832.35 in the first half hour of trading.

Gains outnumbered losses by slight margin. Brokers said the market may have been given some impetus by the short interest ration—by which rose to 2.2 in the last month. They said the rise was "an extremely bullish reading" but added that "it remains to be seen whether isolated items such as this can snap the market out of its lethargy."

Earnings Stay For Hercules

Hercules Incorporated earnings for the first quarter of 1968 are expected to be about the same as those of the corresponding quarter of 1967 if there is no surtax imposed for 1968. Henry A. Thouron, chairman of the board and president, told stockholders at their annual meeting today. In 1967, first quarter earnings were 56 cents per share, a record high, Thouron noted.

Overall sales for the quarter are estimated to be the same as the $148,800,000 for the first quarter in 1967. The first quarter figures for 1967 are restated to reflect acquisitions for that year.

Stockholders voted against a resolution submitted by Lewis D. and John L. Gilbert which would have added two new members of the board not employees of the company.

Fires Damage Two Houses And Garage

Two houses and a private garage were damaged in separate fires that we quelled by Ellenville volunteer fire units.

At 5:30 p. m. firemen were dispatched to the Henry Cramer property at Essex and Main Streets after fire was discovered in the family garage. Damage to the building was reported to be extensive but an automobile was saved.

Firemen answered a call shortly before 10 p. m. Wednesday to extinguish fire in an unoccupied apartment at 151 Center Street.

Ellenville firefighters were called out shortly before 9:15 a. m. today after fire was reported in a residence at 109 Center Street. The damage was not extensive, according to reports.

Q—I am president of a cemetery company and have had our funds in banks and savings and loans. Now the rules have been changed, and we will have to invest elsewhere. We will still have $200,000 in certificates and $100,000 in government bonds. What do you think about this? Is it the right time to invest? Should we take our time or plunge?—H.L.

A—It seems to me that in a sense you fill the role of a fiduciary. The market has been very weak since January and there is no indication of improvement. One hundred thousand dollars is a great deal to put in the market at any given time, and I think that, holding the position you do, you have to be extra cautious. I advise you to wait a while until conditions stabilize. I believe that in your particular situation you should invest in government bonds until there is reasonable certainty that the upward trend has been resumed.

Q—A series of articles in the paper placed load-type funds in general at a disadvantage in comparison to no-load funds. The only fund you have referred to recently is Invest. Would you please comment on no-load funds? Are Energy Fund and Stein, Roe & Farinham well-managed funds?—A.C.

A—If you will allow me to say so, I am going to offer a correction. I recommended Enterprise Fund on Feb. 15 and this is a no-load fund. I have never believed that the sales charge should be the major determinant in picking a fund. It is the net asset record that counts, and you should study this for at least five years. Two Are Sentenced In County Court Prison sentences were meted out by County Judge Raymond J. Mino on Wednesday for two defendants, and a 21-year-old Saugerties man was sentenced to the county jail for six months after admitting charges involving the taking of an automobile.

Judge Mino marked several cases on the ready for trial calendar and adjourned other cases until April 1, the opening of the April term of county court.

During the afternoon Judge Mino heard a half dozen Youthful Offender cases in chambers. Assistant District Attorney Robert A. Mackinnon represented District Attorney Joseph P. Torrace in all cases called yesterday.

Richard William Smith, 53, of 231 Albany Avenue, who previously pleaded guilty to two counts of incest involving 13- and 14-year-old girls was sentenced on each of the counts to an indeterminate term with a maximum of four years in Clinton Prison at Dannemora. Judge Mino ruled that the sentences run consecutively. Smith has been confined in jail the last 121 days.

H. Clark Bell, attorney for Smith, referred to medical and psychiatric reports that had been filed with the court in his plea for leniency.

Marvin Russell Weatherford, 41, of Lake Minnewaska, was sentenced to Clinton Prison for a term of 2½ to 5 years at hard labor, after pleading guilty to a second offender information filed by the office of District Attorney Joseph P. Torrace. The information noted that on June 7, 1962, Weatherford was convicted in U.S. District Court in Atlanta, Ga., of uttering a $50 U.S. Treasury check. The defendant had previously pleaded guilty here to a reduced charge of attempted assault, second degree.

Weatherford and a New Paltz woman had been indicted last November on charges of robbery and second degree assault involving the alleged assault upon Louis Burbich an employee of Lake Mohonk last Aug. 19. Burbich told authorities he was robbed of his wallet containing $40. Attorney William C. Mulany appeared as counsel for Weatherford.

Richard Leslie Turk, 21, of Route 1, Saugerties, who was indicted for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle belonging to Martha Brink, withdrew a previous plea of innocent and pleaded guilty to the indictment. Judge Mino sentenced him to six months in the county jail. Charles H. Geffney, appeared as counsel for the defendant.

Irva James Allen, of Kingston pleaded guilty to unlawfully entering the enclosure of a building at Dietz's Mobil Gas Station in the Town of Ulster on March 3, 1967. Judge Mino adjourned sentencing to April 1 at 2 p. m. Richard W. Griggs appeared as attorney for the defendant. Allen had been indicted on charges of third degree burglary and unlawful entry.

Raymond Smith, who was indicted on a charge of third degree grand larceny, was granted an adjournment until April 1 to obtain counsel. The felony charge accused the defendant of taking 688 pounds of bronze scrap metal from Hercules plant in Port Jervis last Nov. 11. The metal was valued at $271.20.

Soviets in Indian Ocean

Strategists Show Concern

BY FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. naval strategists are expressing concern that an impending visit by Soviet warships to Indian ports may be a first move toward a Soviet penetration of the vital Indian Ocean area.

The United States keeps no Navy vessels in the Indian Ocean and U.S. admirals and diplomats fear the planned British pull-out east of Suez will leave a vacuum into which the Soviets may step.

Naval strategists say this would be a further extension of Soviet naval power which Moscow has been sending far and wide in the last few years.

A 19,000-ton Soviet cruiser of the Sverdlov class and two guided-missile destroyers are due to drop anchor at Madras and Bombay late this month and early in April.

Closer Relationship.
The visit appears to underscore a closer relationship between the Indian and Soviet navies and greater cooperation between the two countries.

Pentagon sources said they believed the three warship cruises into the Indian Ocean were arranged last month when Adm. S. G. Gorshkov, Soviet fleet commander in chief, visited India.

Some four years ago, when the U.S. Navy sent a five-ship carrier squadron into the Indian Ocean area on a "show-the-flag" and good-will voyage, the Indian government acted suspicious of U.S. motives, as did the government of Ceylon.

The American squadron, which spent six weeks in the Indian Ocean, visited a number of African and Middle Eastern ports but did not stop in India.

U.S. naval spokesmen have been indicating deep alarm at the ever-spreading Soviet fleet operations.

Since the Arab-Israeli war last June, a Soviet force of more than 35 ships and submarines has maintained a presence in the Mediterranean, using Egyptian ports and anchorages in certain sheltered waters around the Mediterranean basin.

Sees Expanded Threat.
Secretary of the Navy Paul R. Ignatius reflected the concern of the admirals when he told Congress last month that "we see an expanding Soviet threat to our free use of the seas."

Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chief of Naval Operations, said that with the Soviets keeping four to six submarines in the Mediterranean, the U.S. feels it necessary to station a naval anti-submarine hunt-killer group in that area at all times.

With the Vietnam war straining its naval resources, the United States would like to avoid replacing the British presence with an American force afloat in the Indian Ocean.

The State Department has said "we have no plans to move in where the British forces pull out."

But if the initial Soviet naval cruise into the Indian Ocean becomes a regular phenomenon, U.S. strategists say this country may have to rethink its attitude toward maintaining fleet forces in that area.

$855,500 State Grant Is Given Dutchess Marina

A grant-in aid of $855,500 for a Marina in Poughkeepsie has been announced by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as part of the New York State outdoor recreational program.

The proposed Poughkeepsie Marina will cost $1,711,000 and is located on a 13.5 acre site on the east bank of the Hudson River. Plans call for mooring 234 vessels plus "pigeon hole parking" for an additional 103 boats. This latter innovation derives its name from the appearance of the compartmentalized, dry-land storage units which it utilizes. There will also be a boat-launching site with parking for 20 cars and trailers as well as general parking for 307 cars.

Other features of the Poughkeepsie Marina will include a snack bar, laundromat, small supplies store, rest rooms, sewage pumping and a gasoline service area.

Under the outdoor recreational program the state pays half the cost of the Marina. The village of Freepoint, in Nassau County has received a similar grant for $540,000 for a 250-boat marina.

Soviets in Indian Ocean

Strategists Show Concern

BY FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. naval strategists are expressing concern that an impending visit by Soviet warships to Indian ports may be a first move toward a Soviet penetration of the vital Indian Ocean area.

The United States keeps no Navy vessels in the Indian Ocean and U.S. admirals and diplomats fear the planned British pull-out east of Suez will leave a vacuum into which the Soviets may step.

Naval strategists say this would be a further extension of Soviet naval power which Moscow has been sending far and wide in the last few years.

A 19,000-ton Soviet cruiser of the Sverdlov class and two guided-missile destroyers are due to drop anchor at Madras and Bombay late this month and early in April.

Closer Relationship

The visit appears to underscore a closer relationship between the Indian and Soviet navies and greater cooperation between the two countries.

Pentagon sources said they believed the three warship cruises into the Indian Ocean were arranged last month when Adm. S. G. Gorshkov, Soviet fleet commander in chief, visited India.

Some four years ago, when the U.S. Navy sent a five-ship carrier squadron into the Indian Ocean area on a "show-the-flag" and good-will voyage, the Indian government acted suspicious of U.S. motives, as did the government of Ceylon.

The American squadron, which spent six weeks in the Indian Ocean, visited a number of African and Middle Eastern ports but did not stop in India.

U.S. naval spokesmen have been indicating deep alarm at the ever-spreading Soviet fleet operations.

Since the Arab-Israeli war last June, a Soviet force of more than 35 ships and submarines has maintained a presence in the Mediterranean, using Egyptian ports and anchorages in certain sheltered waters around the Mediterranean basin.

Sees Expanded Threat

Secretary of the Navy Paul R. Ignatius reflected the concern of the admirals when he told Congress last month that "we see an expanding Soviet threat to our free use of the seas."

Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chief of Naval Operations, said that with the Soviets keeping four to six submarines in the Mediterranean, the U.S. feels it necessary to station a naval anti-submarine hunt-killer group in that area at all times.

With the Vietnam war straining its naval resources, the United States would like to avoid replacing the British presence with an American force afloat in the Indian Ocean.

The State Department has said "we have no plans to move in where the British forces pull out."

But if the initial Soviet naval cruise into the Indian Ocean becomes a regular phenomenon, U.S. strategists say this country may have to rethink its attitude toward maintaining fleet forces in that area.

$855,500 State Grant Is Given Dutchess Marina

A grant-in aid of $855,500 for a Marina in Poughkeepsie has been announced by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as part of the New York State outdoor recreational program.

The proposed Poughkeepsie Marina will cost $1,711,000 and is located on a 13.5 acre site on the east bank of the Hudson River. Plans call for mooring 234 vessels plus "pigeon hole parking" for an additional 103 boats. This latter innovation derives its name from the appearance of the compartmentalized, dry-land storage units which it utilizes. There will also be a boat-launching site with parking for 20 cars and trailers as well as general parking for 307 cars.

Other features of the Poughkeepsie Marina will include a snack bar, laundromat, small supplies store, rest rooms, sewage pumping and a gasoline service area.

Under the outdoor recreational program the state pays half the cost of the Marina. The village of Freeport in Nassau County has received a similar grant for $540,000 for a 250-boat marina.

Many Puzzling Things

Foreigners Left Dazed by the Madness of Laotians

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The Laotians like to stop their war every weekend. They want their fun and rest. That is only one of the puzzling things about Laos.

This "land of a million elephants" is populated by what may be the world's easy-goingest people. And Laos is mixed up now in a sort of international madness which, coupled with its own quirks, leaves the foreigner dazed.

Vientiane, a run-down capital looking like an old American cow-town with Buddhist pagodas thrown in, is a hive of fierce diplomatic activity.

The Soviet mission is bigger by far than in many countries. It is manned by top-grade men. The American mission is huge—there are 500 Americans and as many non-Laotians in the AID mission alone.

Laos has the distinction of having more U.S. military attaches than any country in the world—72 by official count.

With a population about that of Philadelphia, Laos has an army equal in number to the armed forces of Mexico and Canada combined. The country is 85 per cent illiterate, with exactly 89 high school graduates last year, half of them foreigners. It is a place where almost anything can happen and probably will, where a thing can be true if one chooses to believe it is true.

"There is less to this country than meets the eye," remarked one bemused diplomat, replying to a suggestion that perhaps Laos didn't really exist after all. A war is going on with both sides fighting with guerrillas and conventional forces. The Communist guerrilla forces have headquarters in Vientiane, the capital of a government they have sworn to destroy.

Fiction of Government

This is because of the fiction of a three-way government—neutral, right and Communist—agreed to at the 1962 Geneva conference. It doesn't exist because the Communists do not take part and they denounce the rest as illegal. But technically, the Communists are still here, and cabinet posts they are supposed to occupy are held by "acting" ministers.

You can look through a high wire fence behind the U.S. Embassy and see the home of Prince Souphanouvong nearby. He is the half-brother of Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma.

Souphanouvong hasn't been in Vientiane since 1963, and now probably is in North Vietnam.

But his dilapidated, two-story, dirty yellow mansion is guarded by troops of the Communist Pathet Lao carrying AK47 guns. His affairs are handled by Souk Pethrassy, representative of the Neo Lao Hak Xat—the Communist-led liberation front—in Vientiane. Pethrassy moves comfortably among diplomats at various functions.

Makes Mockery of Hippies
A shout away from Souphanouvong's home, hard by the Communications Ministry building, is a Pathet Lao compound surrounded by barbed wire, guarded by men carrying AK47s, and wearing sloppy North Vietnamese uniforms. Nearby, other Pathet Lao romp at volleyball or tend a well-kept vegetable garden. These Pathet Lao have place.

The easygoing atmosphere of Vientiane is so permissive that it makes a mockery of hippies who come here seeking permis-siveness. Their psychedelic bar, the Third Eye, has taken on a bourgeois, respectable look, making the few pot-users sprawled in corners look out of place.

Businessmen Sharpen Their Attitudes on War in Vietnam

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Businessmen have sharpened their attitudes on the war in Vietnam in recent weeks, even breaking into surprisingly open opposition and lending strength to at least one large antiwar group.

"In business, if you adopt a strategy for results and maintain that strategy for 36 months and find you're no further along than when you started, then it makes no sense to continue with the same strategy," is a typical opposition remark.

This comment was made by Henry Niles, chairman of the Baltimore Life Insurance Co., and cochairman of Business Executives Move for Vietnam Peace, a growing organization which wants de-escalation and eventual disengagement from the war.

Paramount Issue
Articles in business publications, in stock market advisories, in public statements and private conversations of businessmen prove that the war has become the paramount issue in business.

Not all this concern is expressed as opposition. Some are noncommittal and some are hawks. Reasons for concern vary also, from moral and legal to the mainly economic consideration that the war is becoming bad for business and bearish for the stock market.

Whereas government spending spurred the economy in previous years, it is causing inflation now. It has pushed up interest rates, worsened the balance of payments, and brings with it the threat of economic controls.

The recent enemy offensive and the gold drain apparently have played large roles in this growing concern. But the enticing prospect of a strong peacetime economy has encouraged some interest also.

"Peace in Vietnam would be the greatest imaginable blessing—and in addition, substantial economic benefits would accrue," So began an eight-page study of "Peace in Vietnam?"

by Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis, a brokerage house, in any brokerage house analysis the advice on a course of action generally is restricted to stocks, as it is in this example, but it is difficult to overlook the sense of anticipation in statements like this from the Paine, Webber study:

"Peace will afford each of us the opportunity for an economic re-emphasis on peacetime pursuits, . . . and the satisfaction of increased demand for all the things and services to which we aspire in our affluent society."

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, also noncommittal, has just completed what it terms a major study showing de-escalation in Vietnam will cause only minor economic dislocations.

Antiwar feeling escalates from these neutral positions.

The Wall Street Journal shocked some readers when it expressed sorrow about escalation and suggested that "every one had better be prepared for the bitter taste of a defeat beyond America's power to prevent."

Forbes magazine set out to interview a money expert, Mariner Eccles, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, on interest rates and inflation. Eccles prefaced his remarks by saying, "You can't separate the financial situation from the whole social and political background."

Eccles then went into a heated denunciation of the war. "The Fed has been doing a good job," he said. "Now this war has upset the whole damn show."

The Federal Reserve, sometimes called the Fed, is faced with maintaining stability despite the handicaps of a budget deficit, a balance of payments deficit and the resulting threat of a damaging seep of inflation. "As I said earlier," Eccles continued, "all of this broad spectrum of problems can only ultimately be solved by our getting out of Vietnam."

Antiwar feeling escalates from these neutral positions. The Wall Street Journal shocked some readers when it expressed sorrow about escalation and suggested that "everyone had better be prepared for the bitter taste of a defeat beyond America's power to prevent."

Forbes magazine set out to interview a money expert, Marri-ner Eccles, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, on interest rates and inflation. Eccles prefaced his remarks by saying, "You can't separate the financial situation from the whole social and political back-ground."

Eccles then went into a heated denunciation of the war. "The Fed has been doing a good job," he said. "Now this war has upset the whole damn show."

The Federal Reserve, sometimes called the Fed, is faced with maintaining stability despite the handicaps of a budget deficit, a balance of payments deficit and the resulting threat of a damaging siege of inflation. "As I said earlier," Eccles continued, "all of this broad spectrum of problems can only ultimately be solved by our getting out of Vietnam."

City Inspectors On Housing Code Starting Monday

Jan. 9, 1963 the Common Council adopted a housing standard and administration code for the entire city. This empowered the mayor to appoint a five-member commission to administer the Code, the Commission to be known as the Housing Code Commission of the City of Kingston.

The purpose of this code is to prevent the deterioration of residential buildings in all areas of the City. This can prevent a large scale demolition program and keep better living conditions for everyone. The City was divided into 10 separate areas. The department of Federal Housing and Administration requires that we inspect two separate areas each year.

In 1968, areas six and seven, consisting of the Second and Third Wards, are scheduled to be inspected. Starting Monday, Mar. 25, the Housing Code Inspectors, will start work in Abbey, Derrenbacher, Stephan Emerick, Gage and Farrelly Streets.

Cooperation with the inspectors is requested, to keep this necessary work moving. It is designed to keep the homeowner informed as to whether or not his home meets the housing code requirement regarding electrical, plumbing and building, etc. If not at home when the Inspector calls, make arrangements for them to do so at the owner's convenience.

Two Injured; Girl Taking Driving Lesson

A 17-year-old Hyde Park girl was taking a driving lesson at 6 p. m. Wednesday with her father as the instructor, when the car she was driving went out of control and hit a tree headon, according to Rhinebeck State Police.

The girl and her father received minor injuries, but did not need hospitalization.

Troopers said Jacqueline Chrisfield, of 1 Horseshoe Drive, accompanied by her father, George, 38, was driving south on Route 9 about one-half mile south of Farm Lane, Town of Hyde Park, when she attempted a right turn into a driveway. The vehicle went off the left side of the driveway and crashed headon into a tree.

Miss Chrisfield, who had a learner's permit, received bruises of the left knee. Her father sustained a small laceration of the forehead. Trooper Robert Geschlecht of Rhinebeck investigated.

Indian Doctor Will Present Lecture Series

By special arrangement with the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, Dr. Amiya Chakravarty is scheduled to give a series of three lectures in Kingston on the last three Tuesday evenings of April at the George Washington School. Dr. Chakravarty is an Indian philosopher who is visiting professor at the State University College in New Paltz this year. He spoke in Kingston last December. His qualifications include MA from Patna University (India) 1926; PhD Oxford University (England) 1937; Doctor of Literature (honorary) Visc Bharati International University of Tagore (India) 1963.

Dr. Chakravarty's experience is not confined to the academic world. He has also participated in some of the leading humanitarian and social movements in India, Africa and the West Indies, and has worked with Tagore, Gandhi and Schweitzer.

The title of the lecture series to be given in April is The Needs of Modern Man—the Challenge from the East, (a) The Integrative Life: Contemplation and Action, (b) Community and Communion, (c) Interfaith: Religion in the New Age.

Advance registration is necessary. The deadline for this has been extended to today. The presentation of the lectures is dependent upon there being 50 persons registered, and this number has not yet been reached. Persons interested in attending are urged to contact the Ulster County Association for Mental Health—a Community Chest Agency—immediately. The office is located at 27 East O'Reilly Street in Kingston, and is open Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. There is a small registration fee, with reduction for students.

Medicare Has Apr. 1 Deadline

April 1 will be the last day you can claim medical insurance payments under medicare for services you received during July, August, and September 1966.

According to George J. Habernig, social security district manager in Kingston, anyone who had the "doctor-bill" part of medicare during that period and who had medical bills amounting to more than $50 during the entire last six months of 1966 may be eligible for some medicare payment if it has not already been claimed.

Medicare claims for services rendered between October 1966 and September 1967 may be made through December 31, 1968. The April 1 deadline applies only to services rendered in July, August, and September 1966.

Habernig emphasized that medicare claims may be made even if the bills for the services have not yet been paid.

Anyone in Ulster County area who needs assistance in applying for medicare benefits may get in touch with the social security office at 57 Albany Avenue in Kingston. The office is open weekdays from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and until 7:00 p.m. on Thursday.

If you need help with a medicare claim or any other social security matter but are unable to come to the office because of illness, telephone the Kingston social security office for assistance.

City GOP Sets Meet Tonight

The Republican city committee will hold what has been described as an "important pre-convention meeting of all committeemen" at 9 p. m. tonight at the county office building. Chairman John Ray Mayone announced today.

The purpose of the meeting will be to "discuss and formulate voting policy for the county convention (on March 25); discuss other convention business; discuss city problems (such as reapportionment and aldermen candidates).

Following address from city candidates, the meeting will be conducted in closed session.

Mayone stated that he does not "anticipate that we will announce any endorsement of any candidates following the meeting.

"For various reasons," Mayone declared, "it would seem most advantageous to withhold any commitment until actually on the convention floor, but, we can discuss this."

The GOP city chairman stated, "At this county convention, as in all other such conventions, it becomes the responsibility of this city committee to comport itself at all times in a manner to indicate to one and all that we are that which our positions dictate—we are professional politicians."

"I have the fullest confidence in this committee that it will handle itself in such a manner as to reflect credit upon itself and the 4,000 city Republicans it represents," concluded Mayone.

OSCAR LONDON

ARTHUR FIELD

Expanded London's Has Grand Opening

London's Varsity Shop at 31 North Front Street is now open in the expanded London's complex including the Youth Centre and Junior Bazaar, and a grand opening celebration will be observed from Friday, March 22 to Saturday, March 30.

Early in January London's expanded its selling area by 1,700 feet into the former Endicott Johnson shoe store building and remodeling of the new area was recently completed.

The new Varsity Shop will be in charge of Arthur Field, who has been with the firm for 27 years.

The family operation includes Oscar London and his sons, Arthur and Stanley. Arthur H. London operates London's Department Store at Partition Street, Saugerties.

Features of the grand opening will be $50 worth of awards and free orchids to the ladies.

Prior to moving to the North Front Street site, London's was doing business for 10 years on John Street and the firm has been at the North Front Street site for over 30 years.

The elder London at the time he announced the firm's expansion plans said the company has been increasing sales every year and the outlook for the Uptown area was good.

A new student line will be displayed in the expanded area which will have the space to display the largest selection of student and children's items in the area.

Kingston Trust Has Overdraft Banking Plan

Kingston Trust Company today announced it will introduce a new personal banking service known as the Cash Reserve Checking Account.

The new service will offer a personal line of credit to Kingston Trust customers in this area who have either regular or special checking accounts. The line of credit, or cash reserve, will be available in amounts ranging from $500 to $5,000. A check drawn for more than the customer's balance automatically creates a loan for the exact amount of the cash reserve used.

In making the announcement, George Rusk, president, said, "This service clearly recognizes the growing significance of the basic checking account as a unique, single instrument that accommodates various financial needs of the consumer public. The Cash Reserve Checking Account will represent a convenient way for Kingston Trust customers who qualify to get the things they need when they need them."

Kingston Trust's Plan has two distinctive features. First, the cash reserve will be administered in conjunction with the customer's usual checking account, permitting a loan for the exact amount of the overdraft rather than in multiples of $100 as in most similar plans. All transactions will be shown on the regular monthly statement.

Second, each time you make a deposit in your Kingston Trust Cash Reserve Checking account you reduce any balance you owe and at the same time replenish your Cash Reserve. The minimum monthly repayment required is 1/20th of the Cash Reserve line when borrowing.

There will be a 1 percent monthly interest charge for the amount of cash reserve that is actually in use.

In addition to having a Kingston Trust checking account, an applicant for the service should be at least 21 years old, lived or worked in this area for the past two years, be steadily employed and have an acceptable credit rating. The service will be available at all of the bank's branch offices in the area.

Kingston Trust Has Overdraft Banking Plan

Kingston Trust Company today announced it will introduce a new personal banking service known as the Cash Reserve Checking Account.

The new service will offer a personal line of credit to Kingston Trust customers in this area who have either regular or special checking accounts. The line of credit, or cash reserve, will be available in amounts ranging from $500 to $5,000. A check drawn for more than the customer's balance automatically creates a loan for the exact amount of the cash reserve used.

In making the announcement, George Rusk, president, said, "This service clearly recognizes the growing significance of the basic checking account as a unique, single instrument that accommodates various financial needs of the consumer public. The Cash Reserve Checking Account will represent a convenient way for Kingston Trust customers who qualify to get the things they need when they need them."

Kingston Trust's Plan has two distinctive features. First, the cash reserve will be administered in conjunction with the customer's usual checking account, permitting a loan for the exact amount of the overdraft rather than in multiples of $100 as in most similar plans. All transactions will be shown on the regular monthly statement.

Second, each time you make a deposit in your Kingston Trust Cash Reserve Checking account you reduce any balance you owe and at the same time replenish your Cash Reserve. The minimum monthly repayment required is 1/20th of the Cash Reserve line when borrowing.

There will be a 1 percent monthly interest charge for the amount of cash reserve that is actually in use.

In addition to having a Kingston Trust checking account, an applicant for the service should be at least 21 years old, lived or worked in this area for the past two years, be steadily employed and have an acceptable credit rating. The service will be available at all of the bank's branch offices in the area.

Y Reports Encouraging, Status of Drive Listed

N. LeVan Haver, chairman of the YMCA Capital Fund Drive, today announced the current status of the drive.

Many of the pledges being received at campaign headquarters give encouragement to campaign leadership as they move toward completion of the campaign in the weeks ahead, he said.

Many individuals are memorializing specific rooms and facilities in both the new buildings. Among others, in the Social Activities Building the Youth Game Room has been memorialized through a gift of $25,000, the Board Room for $18,000, the executive director's office for $10,000, and the Adult Lobby for $7,000.

In the Physical Activities Building the Health Club Lounge has been memorialized by a gift of $12,500, and the physical director's office and foyer for $5,000 and the Sun Room for $1,500.

In addition, the recently announced Kingston Rotary gift of $7,000 is to be for the Youth Lobby.

Haver said that beginning this month over 300 people in Kingston and the communities throughout Ulster County are contacting prospects on behalf of the YMCA. In these communities it will take several weeks yet for them to conclude their work.

In the Pattern-Major-Special Gifts Divisions, a number of key prospects will be determining their gift between now and during the month of April. It is Haver's feeling that, when these key prospects, along with commitments from commercial and industrial firms are all reported, that a successful campaign will result and one

THE WAY IT USED TO BE ALONG CANAL

Rosendale: Canal-Oriented Parks?

Two canal oriented parks for the Town of Rosendale? Yes, and a couple of nature walks to boot, if a D&H Canal Society proposal is accepted by the town.

The parks and walks are key sections of a plan presented by the society to a joint meeting of Rosendale's Town Board, Planning Board and Zoning Board this week. Presentation was made by Donald Ross, acting chairman of the canal group's Preservation Committee.

One park would have as its focus the old D&H Locks 2 and 3, which lie adjacent to Creek Locks Road in the Creek Locks section of Rosendale. When the canal was in operation, Lock 2 opened into Rondout Creek for the so-called "slack water navigation" portion that ran to Eddyville.

The two lock are about 200 feet apart, and both are in good condition and warrant preservation, according to the report. The society suggests that the locks be cleaned out, picnic tables placed, and a small parking area added. The park would contain an estimated two and one-half acres.

The second park would center around Lock 4 and its old boat repair drydock lying side-by-side about a half mile west of Locks 3 and 4, on Creek Locks Road. The drydock was built during the Civil War period, when boat repair facilities were in great demand, and is a fine example of cut-stone lock construction, according to the society.

One of the two nature walks envisaged would stretch from Lock 4 along the canal westerly about a mile, past Webster Locks Road, almost to the New York Thruway. "This section is admirably suited for a walk," the proposal states. "It's relatively secluded, the surroundings are delightful, and here the creek is in an unspoiled condition. The towpath can be cleared of brush where necessary, and perhaps a shelter or two could be erected for walkers caught in a sudden rain." The society feels that the area would be especially appealing to fishermen.

Walkway Routes
The second of the two walkways is, in the group's opinion, "the finest portion of the canal left in Rosendale." This mile-long stretch runs from the Rt. 213 bridge in Lawrenceville along the north side of the Rondout to a point opposite High Falls. "This part is completely unspoiled," said Ross. "The towpath is largely clear, the canal remains in a relatively good condition, and the view of the Rondout is magnificent."

By acquiring the property and setting the strips aside as parks, the town would accomplish the dual objective of preservation and public recreation, according to the proposal, "and because of the visitors such parks would bring to area, the projects would stimulate the town economically."

Matching Funds
Ross indicated that although the cost of acquisition should be modest, state and federal matching funds probably would be available under the Federal Green Acres and others programs.

The society plans to survey the old waterway from Eddyville to Honesdale, Pa., the full 10 miles. Then the group will point out to towns and villages along the route those sections felt to be significant enough to be set aside for preservation "before the march of progress tramples this part of our heritage to obliteration," said Ross. The beautification and preservation proposal is under study by the various boards.

$5,149 Lloyd Sewer Grant

A $5,149 grant to the Town of Lloyd is among $79,687 allotted under the most recent expenditures of the New York State Pure Waters program. The money will go toward the maintenance and operation of approved sewage treatment plants in six counties in the state.

"Under the Pure Waters program," Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said, "the state makes annual grants, on a municipal fiscal year basis, of one-third the direct cost of operating and maintaining municipal sewage treatment plants, provided they meet state standards. This part of the program encourages municipalities to maintain uniformly high standards of waste treatment."

Ulster Sets Examining Dates

Board of assessors of Town of Ulster will be available to review applications for tax exemptions for 1968 from persons 65 years or over on the next two Saturdays, March 23 and 30 at Lake Katrine Grange Hall from 12 noon to 4 p. m. Those applying must have incomes less than $3,000 to be eligible.

Assessors are Joseph Lohmaier, chairman; Edwin Callahan and LeRoy Crosby.

Those seeking exemption must apply each year. If they applied last year and wish to be included this year, they must apply again this year.

THE WAY IT USED TO BE ALONG CANAL

Rosendale: Canal-Oriented Parks?

Two canal oriented parks for the Town of Rosendale? Yes, and a couple of nature walks to boot, if a D&H Canal Society proposal is accepted by the town.

The parks and walks are key sections of a plan presented by the society to a joint meeting of Rosendale's Town Board, Planning Board and Zoning Board this week. Presentation was made by Donald Ross, acting chairman of the canal group's Preservation Committee.

One park would have as its focus the old D&H Locks 2 and 3, which lie adjacent to Creek Locks Road in the Creek Locks section of Rosendale. When the canal was in operation, Lock 2 opened into Rondout Creek for the so-called "slack water navigation" portion that ran to Eddyville.

The two lock are about 200 feet apart, and both are in good condition and warrant preservation, according to the report. The society suggests that the locks be cleaned out, picnic tables placed, and a small parking area added. The park would contain an estimated two and one-half acres.

The second park would center around Lock 4 and its old boat repair drydock lying side-by-side about a half mile west of Locks 3 and 4, on Creek Locks Road. The drydock was built during the Civil War period, when boat repair facilities were in great demand, and is a fine example of cut-stone lock construction, according to the society.

One of the two nature walks envisaged would stretch from Lock 4 along the canal westerly about a mile, past Webster Locks Road, almost to the New York Thruway. "This section is admirably suited for a walk," the proposal states. "It's relatively secluded, the surroundings are delightful, and here the creek is in an unspoiled condition. The towpath can be cleared of brush where necessary, and perhaps a shelter or two could be erected for walkers caught in a sudden rain." The society feels that the area would be especially appealing to fishermen.

Walkway Routes
The second of the two walkways is, in the group's opinion, "the finest portion of the canal left in Rosendale." This mile-long stretch runs from the Rt. 213 bridge in Lawrenceville along the north side of the Rondout to a point opposite High Falls. "This part is completely unspoiled," said Ross. "The towpath is largely clear, the canal remains in a relatively good condition, and the view of the Rondout is magnificent."

By acquiring the property and setting the strips aside as parks, the town would accomplish the dual objective of preservation and public recreation, according to the proposal, and because of the visitors such parks would bring to area, the projects would stimulate the town economically.

Matching Funds
Ross indicated that although the cost of acquisition should be modest, state and federal matching funds probably would be available under the Federal Green Acres and others programs.

The society plans to survey the old waterway from Eddyville to Honesdale, Pa., the full 10 miles. Then the group will point out to towns and villages along the route those sections felt to be significant enough to be set aside for preservation "before the march of progress tramples this part of our heritage to obliteration," said Ross. The beautification and preservation proposal is under study by the various boards.

The superintendent recommended and the board approved the appointment of David Keehn, teacher of elementary music, effective September 1968. Keehn, a resident of Lititz, Pa., earned his BS degree at Lebanon Valley College. The board also approved the appointment of Miss Claire Ziegler to an elementary teaching position, effective September 1968. Miss Ziegler, a local resident and graduate of Sau-gerties High School, earned her BS degree at State University College at New Paltz. Additional appointments included Mrs. Patricia Ricks, head cook, high school, and Mrs. Catherine Wengert, assistant cook, high school.

The board assigned David Hildebrandt, supervisor of buildings and grounds, to assume the additional duties of clerk of the works during the construction of the Mt. Marion-Glasco additions.

Upon recommendation of the business manager, Gerald Snyder, low bids from Kaye Sports-wair, Marty Spolan Incorporated, and S. F. Goldstein were accepted for athletic supplies. A request for an exception to the board policy of granting additional salary for graduate study was denied. The request had been made on behalf of several teachers who wished to receive salary credit for attendance at continuing education courses offered by a community college.

The suggestion that a continuing education course for school bus drivers be offered during the summer of 1968 was approved.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I save catsup bottle tops (and other tops) to have spares.

When a top gets sticky and gummy I throw it in the dishwasher, then wipe off the bottle rim and screw on a clean one from my extras. When the dirty one is washed I toss it in with the spares.

Saves a little time and sticky fingers.

On the Second Day of Spring--We Give You Hats...

By DOROTHY A. NAREL

Here it is — a new season. And in the woman's world of fashions we immediately see new accessories are heightening the varied moods of spring styles. Some of them are in bold Bonnie and Clyde styles, in nostalgic movie star take-offs of the 1930's, in romantic plantation belle inspirations and in far-out fantasies of tomorrow. Colors are blowing hot and cold to touch up mini, midi and maxi lengths. Ruffles will flutter, jewels will glitter from new coifs to new boot ties.

But what about hats?

For some time now, wigs have captured most of the heady attention and millinery reluctantly dropped to the background. The chapel veil, veil hat, bows, ribbons, even decorative hair combs, have kept the spotlight off hats in general.

But now that spring is here, the holidays are just around the corner, women are taking a taking the lead in the fashion parade. And all because the woman shopper is fickle and is always looking for something new—a change. This time, she is looking for that perfect frame with which to complete a dream ensemble.

It's not entirely strange for women to vacillate in this manner. With each new spring season they race through their houses scrubbing walls, shampooing rugs, and, in general, change the entire decorative theme.

Spring is a rebirth—a time when everything takes on a new look. Women, in like manner, seek to change their own appearance. Many go on a diet, consider changing the color of hair, or invest in a new wardrobe.

"spring fever" has been the purchase of a new spring hat. The Woman's Department of The Freeman enlisted the aid of one of our outstanding creators of original hats—June Dessler of Kingston—to get a preview of what women will be wearing this season. We find that styles in hats are just as varied as those in dresses and accessories. Some of them are beautiful, some of them could make great conversation pieces.

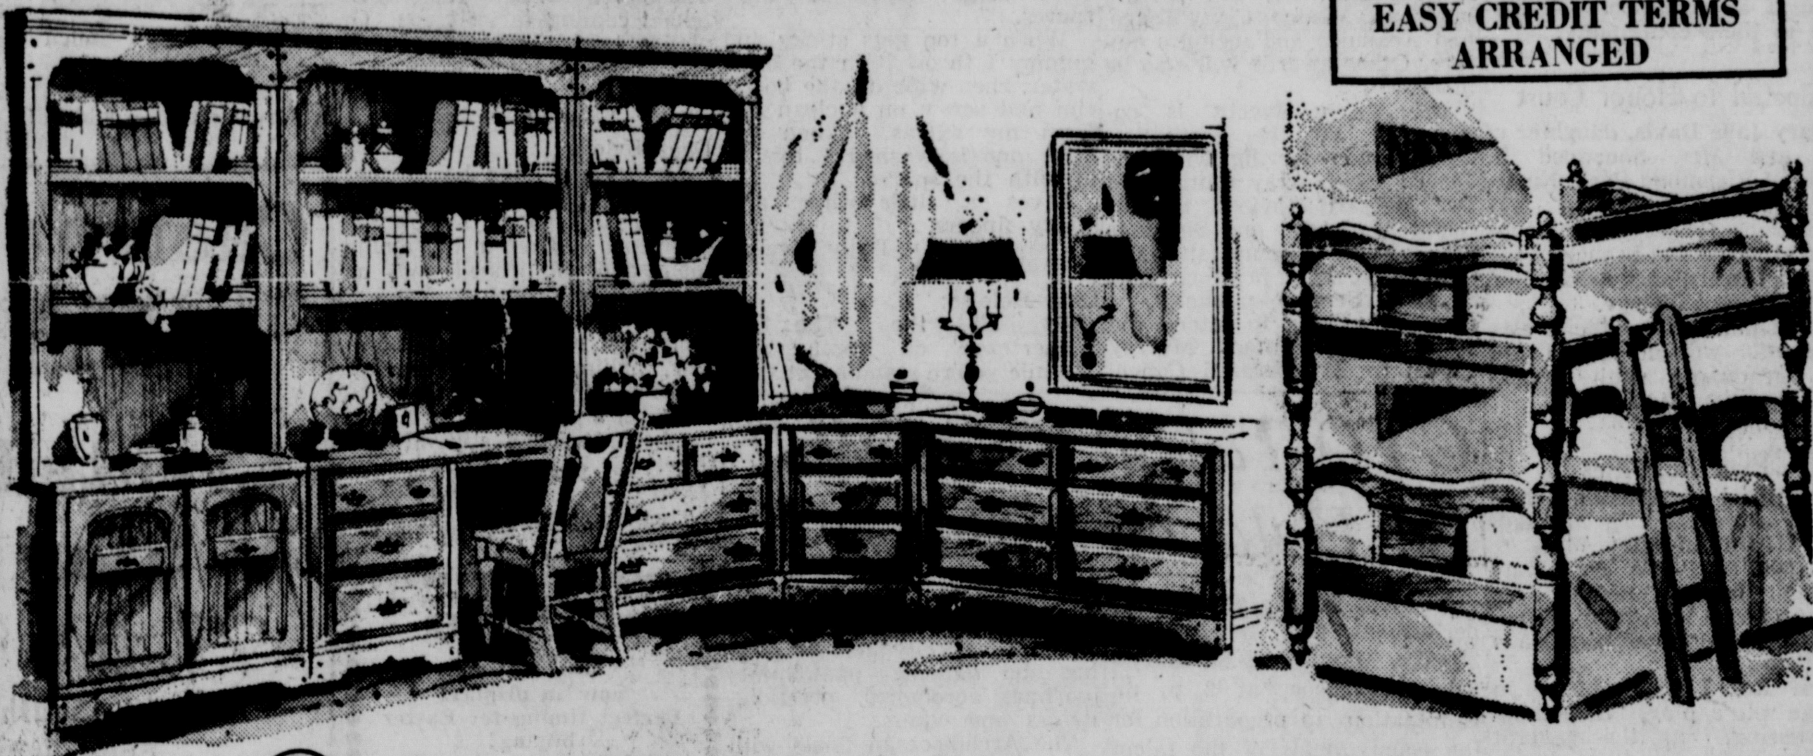

Our milliner tells us that maline, swiss braid straw, silk organza and flowers will be in the forefront. "The Fedora" is back and is shown in straw cloth with accents of field flowers.

Our thanks to Mrs. Faire Hart of New Paltz, Mrs. Hazel Baker of Kingston and Miss Joan Woinoski of the Freeman Woman's Department, who modeled some of the more dramatic numbers for our photographs.

Grand Union Special—Fine China

By DOROTHY A. NAREL

The idea of producing china-ware was borrowed by the Japanese 1,000 years ago from China. The industrious Japanese improved on the idea and methods until, today, they are considered experts in the production of lightweight, translucent, and surprisingly tough china.

But who would expect to find fine china sold over the counter in a supermarket? Come Monday, March 25, however, Grand Union supermarkets in the Poughkeepsie-Kingston area, the Capitol District and parts of New England, will be featuring fine china dinnerware. The promotion is expected to involve 71 Grand Union supermarkets in selected areas of upstate New York, Massachusetts and Vermont.

Largest Promotion
This is the biggest promotion ever undertaken by any supermarket in the country, officials said in Albany this week where they hosted a press conference at the Golden Fox.

After talking with Ralph D. Lytle, vice president and general manager of Grand Union's Empire Division, and Zane D. LeVan, another Grand Union official, it was learned the company will be spending a total of $54,000,000 on the promotion with $3,000,000 earmarked as an annual expenditure.

Housewives will pay only 22 cents per item.

There will be two patterns, "English Garden" and "Cherry Blossom." I can personally attest to the fact that each piece is elegantly decorated and either pattern is suitable for formal or informal occasions.

"English Garden," which I prefer, has a lovely green motif bordering the translucent white china, while the red and pink "Cherry Blossom" design is delicately used to detail the finely designed pieces. Each pattern is gold rimmed.

One of the most outstanding features of this fine china promotion is its availability as open stock. Following the 13-week promotion, both patterns will be available through Grand Union stores in open stock for three years.

Grand Union is able to make this china available at the lowest possible prices, according to Mr. Lytle, because of the large quantity purchased, direct factory-to-store shipment and the low margin of profit reflected in the retail price of the china.

How It Works

Five items will be offered, one each week, in repeated cycles of five weeks. For every $5 of merchandise you buy, you will be entitled to purchase one item of china for 22 cents.

For a service of eight—dinner plate, cup, saucer, bread and butter plate and dessert dish—you pay a total of $8.83. Fifteen accessory pieces in each pattern, which will not require a minimum purchase, will sell separately at prices ranging from $1.49 to $3.99. These will include a 16-inch meat platter, casserole and sugar and creamer.

The supermarket has had many similar promotions, but after having seen the chinaware I would say this is, by far, the best offer they have made to their customers.

The Japanese can and do capture the loveliness of nature in fine china and the chinaware for this particular promotion comes from one of the largest china factories in Nagoya, Japan. Store managers may never have heard of Nagoya before but they will certainly be thinking about that city across the sea when all the china in the world descends upon them on Monday.

ENGLISH GARDEN, shown here, is one of the two decorative patterns of imported translucent china which the Empire Division of the Grand Union Company will make available in all Grand Union Supermarkets in the Kingston area and selected areas of upstate New York, Massachusetts and Vermont. Beginning on Monday, March 25, both patterns, "English Garden" and "Cherry Blossom" will be featured in an assortment of pieces usually found only in the most expensive selections of dinnerware. The promotion will extend for 15 weeks but will be available in open stock for three years through the Grand Union stores.

Look Here Mrs. Homemaker

The shoppers' pinch-test for ripe avocados is now obsolete. Research workers of the California Department of Agriculture have developed a purple sticker that takes the guesswork out of choosing ripe avocados, says Louise M. Kakargo, Extension Home Economist. Here's how it works. When the avocado is picked, a purple sensitizer sticker is attached to the fruit; as the avocado ripens, the sticker turns yellow. When the shopper stops at the fruit counter, the bright yellow sticker flags her eye. For the shopper who may want an avocado not yet fully ripe, a partially altered sticker may indicate semi-ripe fruit.

At the Markets
MEATS—The U.S. Department of Agriculture counts the animal population of the country as of January 1. The latest count shows that the numbers of sheep and lambs on farms is the fewest since records began 100 years ago. Lamb consumption will probably reach a new low this year of only about 4 pounds per person, continuing the general decline of the past several years. Prices for lamb are expected to be on the high side.

Metropolitan New Yorkers are this country's greatest lamb fanciers. If lamb is one of the family's favorite red meats, the shopper need not pass it by. Retail markets in this area often feature lamb on special and then it can offer good value. In addition, certain cuts of lamb are not in as great demand as others. These cuts tend to be low in price per pound, including shank, breast, leg, shoulder and stew meat cut,

EGGS—Egg supplies continue plentiful. Production will increase seasonally for the next several weeks. Large size eggs will become more abundant in the near future and will probably be a lower cost choice than the medium and small sizes.

FRUITS—The fruit picture is not an encouraging one for shoppers. Remaining oranges for harvest are considerably less than a year ago. Apples in storage are fewer than last year. Acreage of strawberries for harvest this spring is down from last year.

VEGETABLES—Several fresh vegetables are in good supply. The most likely items to find bargains on are potatoes, onions, cabbage, radishes, broccoli, and rutabagas.

How Does Your Garden Grow?

By POLLY CRAMER

Gardening is not one of the things I do best. I lack the patience to wait for those tiny seeds to grow into the lavish display of flowers I like to look at—and cut. Consequently, any catchy idea that is going to make this awesome job easier or more interesting immediately catches my roving eye.

Serious gardeners and the less knowledgeable like myself are always on the lookout for little unusual tricks that other gardeners have found to be good. Let's all put a little more fun into our gardening with these suggestions taken from POLLY'S HOME MAKING POINTERS, now issued in paperback by Berkley Publishing Co.

• "When I plant tiny seeds, I use a big comb to draw tiny rows on well-pulverized soil. After sprinkling on the seeds, comb lightly in the opposite direction to cover them."

• "You will have a built-in ruler for use when transplanting plants and flowers if you paint lines with red nail polish six inches apart along the handle of the hoe."

• "If you do not have flowers the proper shade for a room or a party scheme, don't be discouraged. You can have any color you want by putting the stems of white flowers in water tinted with food coloring. In about an hour you have flowers of the desired color."

Everything of interest to women is included in Polly's 4-page paperback book, "Polly's Homemaking Pointers," available for only 75 cents through this newspaper. To get your copy of this exciting book, P. O. Box 4958, Dept. 124, Chicago, Ill. 60680.

EGGS—Egg supplies continue plentiful. Production will increase seasonally for the next several weeks. Large size eggs will become more abundant in the near future and will probably be a lower cost choice than the medium and small sizes.

FRUITS—The fruit picture is not an encouraging one for shoppers. Remaining oranges for harvest are considerably less than a year ago. Apples in storage are fewer than last year. Acreage of strawberries for harvest this spring is down from last year.

VEGETABLES—Several fresh vegetables are in good supply. The most likely items to find bargains on are potatoes, iceberg lettuce, medium size onions, cabbage, radishes, broccoli, and rutabagas.

Belinsky—Collins Couple of Fun Boys

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bo and Jo are the talk of the baseball world these days but the Houston Astros are perfectly happy with Don and Tom, thank you.

While playboy Bo Belinsky and Playboy's Jo Collins were announcing plans to get married, right-handers Don Wilson and Tom Griffin were combining to pitch a one-hitter as the Astros edged Detroit 2-1 Wednesday in an exhibition baseball game.

There were other interesting developments on the baseball front.

Willie Mays had two teeth yanked by a dentist and Boston pitcher Dave Morehead almost lost a couple when he ran into a wall during a volley ball game. There was some baseball played, too. Phil Linz and Ed Charles, who aren't even on the roster, sparked the New York Mets to a 5-1 triumph over Baltimore. Oakland's Sal Bando continued his spring slugging, cracking his sixth homer as the Athletics clubbed Cincinnati 6-2.

First for Mantle

Mickey Mantle belted homer No. 1, starting the New York Yankees to a 9-1 victory over the minor league Mexico City Red Devils in the Mexican capital.

Dick Ellsworth became the first Boston hurler to work seven innings, checking his former Philadelphia teammates on one run and seven hits in a 6-1 Red Sox victory.

Orlando Cepeda's 10th-inning single scored the winning run as St. Louis overcame eight errors and edged Los Angeles 9-8. Willie Stargell's sacrifice fly drove in the decisive run as Pittsburgh shaded the Chicago White Sox 2-1.

Quarter Finals Win for Mercer

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — The National Junior College basketball tournament shifted from its opening round into winners bracket quarter-final and losers bracket play Wednesday, which continues today.

Mercer County Community College of Trenton, N.J., and Vincennes, Ind., were the two quarter-final winners Wednesday. Mercer outscored Northeastern Colorado of Sterling 16-2 in the final six minutes and won 82-71. Vincennes sank eight free throws and three field goals in the final five minutes to beat Hutchinson 89-82.

First-round winners Wednesday were San Jacinto of Pasadena, Tex., which defeated Iowa Central of Fort Dodge 80-73, and Christian College of Dallas, Tex., 78-72 winner over Broome Tech of Binghamton, N.Y.

Gardner-Webb of Boiling Springs, N.C., was eliminated. It lost its second tournament game to Robert Morris of Carthage, Ill., 82-80 in the losers bracket first round.

The only hit allowed by Houston's Wilson-Griffin combine was a homer by Detroit's Al Kaline. It came off Wilson, who went five innings, fanning five.

Wilson, who pitched a no-hitter last season, is expected to be one of Houston's pitching mainstays. But Griffin, a 20-year-old rookie, had only a 3-9 record last season with two minor league clubs.

Pipers, Dutchess Tournament Winners

Felicello's Pipers, champions of the Marlboro Tournament, and Dutchess County Community College All-Stars, a last-minute entry, moved into the quarter-final round of the 25th annual Poughkeepsie YMCA basketball tournament last night.

Felicello's trounced IBM, 90-69, and the Dutchess Stars notched a 74-60 upset win over Mastromarino Lumber of Nyack.

The Dutchess team was a last-minute replacement for the College All-Star group. The College All-Stars were unable to play because some of their players are with St. Peter's, which is still playing in the NIT.

Final Scores 27

Felicello, paced by 27 tallies from Jim Frale, ran away with the scoring in their game. Frale is a former small-college All-American from Kansas State College. The Pipers pushed the score out to 38-22 at halftime with their well-oiled fast break. They led by 32 points, 76-44 early in the fourth quarter, and then relaxed.

Jim Gordon led the IBMers with 33 markers.

The second game was a real mix-up. Aside from the fact that the College All-Stars were replaced by the Dutchess Community College All-Stars, Mastromarino showed up an hour late for the game with only six of their usual 10 players.

College All Star player Tony Greer of St. Francis' in New York City, arrived at the game because no one had told him his team was not playing. He was asked to play for Mastromarino as long as he was there and they were short handed. Greer poured 37 points through the hoop, but it was not enough to save the Lumbermen.

Dutchess Community's pressure defense contained the Mastromarino squad. Ned Boone led Dutchess' scoring with 20 points, and Ed Sweeney added 19.

Felicello and Dutchess play next on March 27. Felicello meets Wiley's Flying Aces and meeting Stewart Air Force Base Aro-Lake is slated against and Dutchess meeting defending IBEW.

NIT Reaches Semi-Finals

NEW YORK (AP) — St. Peter's and Dayton, their big surprises uncovered, are the fancy and the favorite against rugged Kansas and Notre Dame in tonight's semifinals of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament.

The small, but amazingly quick Peacocks — probably an underdog but a gallery favorite — meet defensive-minded Kansas after the Flyers oppose Notre Dame and its stubborn defense in the doubleheader at Madison Square Garden.

The winners meet Saturday at 2 p.m., EST, in the final on national television. The losers meet for third place at noon.

Few expected St. Peter's to get this far, but few knew the Peacocks could run like they do.

The New Jersey school, utilizing a rocketing fast break, swept aside Marshall and stunned top-seeded Duke.

Honor Danzig

NEW YORK (AP) — Allison Danzig, retired dean of America's tennis writers and a sports writer for more than 40 years with the New York Times, will be honored March 29 by Madison Square Garden and the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association.

The occasion will be during the semifinals of an international tennis tournament scheduled for Madison Square Garden March 25-30.

And the Peacocks, their tall-triumph over West Virginia and est starter at 6-foot-5, unveiled then hit six straight free throws in the final 2½ minutes to beat the crowd's fancy by scoring 80 points in the two games.

Dayton, on the other hand, the runner-up in the NCAA tournament last year and a favorite here, has second team All-American Don May and its own surprise — Dan Obrovac, a 6-10 center.

Audrey Cherny Leads Marymount Mermaids

TARRYTOWN—Miss Audrey Cherny, swim coach and instructor at Marymount College, has guided the college swim varsity to second place in the Eastern Intercollegiate standings.

And in the brief span of only two years, the Kingston-born coach has developed a crack squad of women swimmers. Her girls this season defeated 36 other college teams in nine meets before being stopped by West Chester State College in the Intercollegiate finals in Abington, Pa.

The Marymount mermaids smashed six meet and pool records in sweeping the 4th Annual Invitational Swimming and Diving Meet for college women at Cornell University on March 2. This outstanding win brought the state championship to Marymount for the first time and destroyed the myth that only "upstate" New York swim teams could compete successfully on a statewide basis.

Swift Advancement
The swift advancement of the Tarrytown college swimmers can be gauged by the results at Abington. Marymount finished seventh in 1966, third in 1967 and second this year. Miss Cherny points out that former Olympic star Martha Randall of Philadelphia captains her team and "has been a great inspiration to her teammates." She said that she anticipated "more depth on the team" next year and is hopeful of capturing the Eastern crown.

The Marymount mermaids are undefeated for two straight seasons in regular meets. Miss Cherny now has 20 girls on the team in contrast to the 10 she coached last year, a sure sign of increasing interest on the part of the student body.

Kingston High Grad
A graduate of Kingston High School (class of 1956) Miss Cherny joined the Marymount College faculty in September, 1966. A graduate of Cortland State Teachers College, she received her MS degree at Smith College, Northampton, Mass. She formerly taught at Bethlehem Central High School in Delmar. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cherny.

Hayes Tickets At Boys Club

The Kingston Boys Club, sponsors of the Elvin Hayes Texas Stars exhibition here on April 1, announces a brisk advance sale.

Boys Club director John Holochuk urges all fans to make early reservations by calling the Boys Club.

"It looks like a complete sell-out," said Holochuk.

Need More Teams In Softball

With the final organizational meeting scheduled Sunday, only four local teams have filed entries in the City Softball League.

The four definite franchises at the moment are: Perry's, 1967 champions; Royal Grill, Yallum's and an entry headed by Fred Davi, the veteran baseball promoter.

One major casualty despite the prospects of a big season under the lights is the Subway Grill team. If the Subways fail to field a team it will end a string of 23 straight years in the city circuit.

Difficulty in recruiting new blood and the retirement of several old reliables are cited as factors in Subway's decision not to field a team this year. Superintendent of Recreation Andrew Murphy, league director, said, however, there is an outside chance Subway Grill will reconsider before Sunday's 4 p. m. session at the municipal auditorium.

Murphy also announced that contacts have been made with Poughkeepsie and Red Hook teams to round out a six-team circuit. No decision has been received from either team.

Stabler Signs With Oakland

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Kenny Stabler, former University of Alabama quarterback, signed a two-year contract with the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League Wednesday night.

Terms of the contract were not announced but Stabler apparently received a bonus. He was also drafted in baseball by the Houston Astros of the National League and said earlier he would determine whether to play baseball or football by which bidder offered him the best contract.

The Pill for Birds

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — A zoology professor at the University of Missouri is directing a project aimed at developing birth control pills for birds.

William H. Elder says the pills are a humane way to cut down the population of unwanted birds such as pigeons. He said the pills are food pellets or grain treated with an antifertility compound and are supplied to birds at regular feeding grounds.

The pills, he added, work by inhibiting egg laying. He said the compound, similar to chemicals used to keep down cholesterol, is harmless.

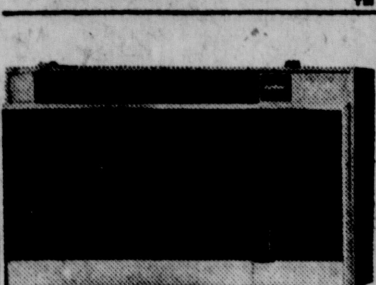

In tests at Moberly, which had about 1,200 pigeons concentrated downtown, inhibition of egg laying was reported 89 per cent successful for three months.

Montreal Drops Toronto From NHL Playoff Berth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Time finally has run out on Punch Imlach's Toronto Maple Leafs.

The National Hockey League's Stanley Cup champions last year, the Leafs were eliminated from 1968's postseason playoffs Wednesday when they dropped a 3-2 decision to the Montreal Canadiens.

In other games, New York grabbed sole possession of second place in the East with a 5-3 victory over Chicago, Pittsburgh picked up valuable ground in the West by knocking off St. Louis 4-2, Philadelphia turned back Oakland 5-1 and Los Angeles and Minnesota played a 3-3 tie.

"We did the best we could, and it wasn't good enough," sighed Imlach, who had piloted the Leafs to 10 straight playoff berths before this season.

"That's all there was to it." Toronto had a precedent for their flop following the Cup victory. In 1944-45, the Leafs captured the Cup and then finished fifth the next season.

Bob Nevin scored three times—twice in the final 4½ minutes—as the Rangers opened a two-point gap over idle Boston and a three-point lead over Chicago in

The Pill for Birds

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — A zoology professor at the University of Missouri is directing a project aimed at developing birth control pills for birds.

William H. Elder says the pills are a humane way to cut down the population of unwanted birds such as pigeons. He said the pills are food pellets or grain treated with an antifertility compound and are supplied to birds at regular feeding grounds.

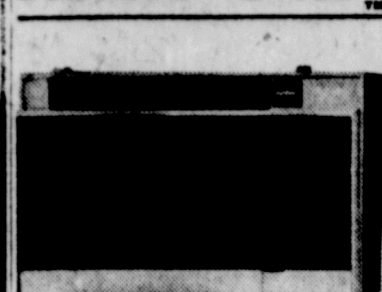

The pills, he added, work by inhibiting egg laying. He said the compound, similar to chemicals used to keep down cholesterol, is harmless. In tests at Moberly, which had about 1,200 pigeons concentrated downtown, inhibition of egg laying was reported 89 per cent successful for three months.

Montreal Drops Toronto From NHL Playoff Berth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The battle for second place in the East.

The Black Hawks, who ousted New York 51-34, had wiped out a 3-1 New York lead with third-period goals by Stan Mikita and Doug Mohns. But 21 seconds after Mohns scored, Nevin hit for a 4-3 Ranger lead. Then Nevin's third goal of the night and 27th of the season wrapped it up.

Goalie Ed Giacomin was brilliant in the Ranger nets, stopping 20 Chicago shots in the first period as goals by Nevin and Orland Kurtenbach got New York off to a 2-0 lead.

In other games, New York grabbed sole possession of second place in the East with a 5-3 victory over Chicago. Pittsburgh picked up valuable ground in the West by knocking off St. Louis 4-2. Philadelphia turned back Oakland 5-1 and Los Angeles and Minnesota played a 3-3 tie.

Dear Abby

Break Up Cozy Foresome

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: To get right to the point, I am in love with my best friend's husband. I'll call him "R." He loves me, too, but he also thinks the world of his wife and children.

I have a wonderful husband and I could never hurt him. We also have children. I know that all "R" and I can ever hope for are a few stolen hours of happiness together, but that's better than nothing.

We know our love is wrong and we have tried staying away from each other, but we can't for long. "R" and my husband are very good friends, and "R's" wife is my best friend, so we four are always together. Our love is growing stronger all the time and it is making a nervous wreck out of me. But how can we stop?

WAUKEGAN
DEAR WAUKEGAN: You will have to break up the foursome before you can break up the twosome. Your family or "R's" will have to move out of town. And the sooner the better. And the farther, the healthier.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that when folks ask a clergyman to officiate at a wedding, or a funeral, or any other occasion where the services of a clergyman are required, they tell him to please make it "short and sweet"?

Most folks are in such a hurry nowadays they don't even want to take time to make a ceremony official.

IRKED IN ITHACA
DEAR IRKED: If you have ever been victimized by a clergyman who took advantage of a captive audience while performing a "service," you wouldn't have asked that question. If you haven't, you're lucky.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't advise me to ask the man down at the bank because he'll probably think this is a very dumb question for a grown woman to ask.

After being a widow for one year I married again. My first husband handled all the finances and I never wrote a check out in my life. (I didn't even know how.) My lawyer wanted to make sure nobody took advantage of me (not even my new husband), so he suggested we get a JOINT CHECKING account, which we did.

My question is, does a check have to have BOTH signatures on it to be good? All the money is mine, so why should I have to chase all over town to find my husband and get HIS signature on a check if I want to draw some money out of our account? On the other hand, if only one signature is necessary, that means my husband could go ahead and draw out any amount he wants without MY signature. So where does the protection for me come in? Thank you.

BEWILDERED
DEAR BEWILDERED: No question is "dumb." Certainly not this one. In the case of a JOINT CHECKING ACCOUNT, only one signature is necessary. However, in special cases, if arrangements are made at the bank specifying that BOTH signatures are necessary, your husband's signature will not be valid without yours. Since all the money is yours and you want "protection" why not ask your banker to honor YOUR signature on a check, but not your husband's unless yours accompanies his?

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S NEW BOOKLET "WHAT TEEN-AGERS WANT TO KNOW" SEND $1.00 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL. 90069.

Wonder Bids, Good and Bad

"Wonder Bids" is a derisive name given to various weak bids so popular among experts. We have nothing against them. In fact we use them sometimes but we don't go out of our way to do so.

Dear Abby

Break Up Cozy Foresome

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: To get right to the point, I am in love with my best friend's husband. I'll call him "R." He loves me, too, but he also thinks the world of his wife and children.

I have a wonderful husband, and I could never hurt him. We also have children. I know that all "R" and I can ever hope for are a few stolen hours of happiness together, but that's better than nothing.

We know our love is wrong and we have tried staying away from each other, but we can't for long. "R" and my husband are very good friends, and "R's" wife is my best friend, so we four are always together. Our love is growing stronger all the time and it is making a nervous wreck out of me. But how can we stop?

WAUKEGAN
DEAR WAUKEGAN: You will have to break up the four some before you can break up the twosome. Your family or R's will have to move out of town. And the sooner the better. And the farther, the healthier.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that when folks ask a clergyman to officiate at a wedding, or a funeral, or any other occasion where the services of a clergyman are required, they tell him to please make it "short and sweet"?

Most folks are in such a hurry nowadays they don't even want to take time to make a ceremony official.

IRKED IN ITHACA
DEAR IRKED: If you have ever been victimized by a clergyman who took advantage of a captive audience while performing a "service," you wouldn't have asked that question. If you haven't, you're lucky.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't advise me to ask the man down at the bank because he'll probably think this is a very dumb question for a grown woman to ask.

After being a widow for one year I married again. My first husband handled all the finances and I never wrote a check out in my life. (I didn't even know how.) My lawyer wanted to make sure nobody took advantage of me (not even my new husband), so he suggested we get a JOINT CHECKING account, which we did.

My question is, does a check

have to have BOTH signatures on it to be good? All the money is mine, so why should I have to chase all over town to find my husband and get HIS signature on a check if I want to draw some money out of our account? On the other hand, if only one signature is necessary, that means my husband could go ahead and draw out any amount he wants without MY signature. So where does the protection for me come in? Thank you.

BEWILDERED
DEAR BEWILDERED: No question is "dumb." Certainly not this one. In the case of a JOINT CHECKING ACCOUNT, only one signature is necessary. However, in special cases, if arrangements are made at the bank specifying that BOTH signatures are necessary, your husband's signature will not be valid without yours. Since all the money is yours and you want "protection" why not ask your banker to honor YOUR signature on a check, but not your husband's unless yours accompanies it?

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

weak two spades. West jumped to four spades. He was sure that his opponents had a game and was sacrificing in advance.

North wasn't going to be shut out. His four no-trump call was for takeout. South jumped to six clubs and when North rescued to diamonds, South went to six hearts.

South ruffed the spade lead, led a heart to dummy's king, returned to his hand with the ace of clubs and led a second heart. West was in with the ace and played a diamond. South won in dummy, ruffed a spade with the last trump in his hand, discarded dummy with a diamond, picked up East's last trump and made his slam.

We won't say that South was in the best contract in history but it was a reasonable slam and he made it.

At the other table East decided that his hand was good enough to open one spade. It was, with 11 high card points and a good spade suit.

South was ready with a wonder bid. He bid three clubs—a weak jump overall. This weak jump overall shut West out of the bidding and it also had the effect of keeping North quiet. A vulnerable weak jump overall may not be too weak but it isn't likely to be one with support for some other suit and North held only one club.

Six clubs made also when the queen of clubs dropped, so the effect of the two wonder bids was to get South to a slam at one table and hold him to a part score at the other.

Hope-Benny Combo a Natural

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Any evening of entertainment that has both Bob Hope and Jack Benny in their own acts is a rich entertainment mix, and so it was on NBC Wednesday.

By current standards of TV variety shows, each comedian starred in a program that would have passed muster as one of a weekly series. However, both programs were specials and, in jokes, sketches and form, neither was outstanding.

A Predictable Volley
Hope popped into sight with a predictable volley of one liners directed at every presidential possibility in sight, and New Hampshire received the kind of attention he usually reserves for California.

The sketches included one spoof of "Bonnie and Clyde." No variety show apparently can resist it. There was an exchange concerning golf with Arnold Palmer who may be a wizard of the links but demonstrated that he is something of a duffer when it comes to reading cue cards.

Benny, in his only special of the season, stuffed his show with celebrities. There were Lucille Ball and Johnny Carson as guest stars. There was also an assortment of quick sight gags starring an assortment ranging from the Smothers brothers to Dean Martin. Since Jack's show was more or less tied to a carnival theme, there was also a chance to insert a sword swallow and a fire eater.

Benny, of course, was the familiar character he has played for three decades of broadcasting—and so was Johnny Carson in a very funny impression of Benny when he played Jack's son with Benny in a sketch. Lucille Ball had her comedy moments, dressed up in a slinky harem costume and singing a siren song about having a man around the house while surrounded by muscle men.

A Happy Ending
Earlier on "The Avengers" of ABC, a surprise came in the very final moments of the weekly adventure of John Steed and Mrs. Emma Peel. Through all these seasons of summer replacements, it was understood that the swinging Mrs. Peel was a footnote if not exactly fancy free widow. Last night, her husband turned up. Instead of being dead in a plane crash, he was lost — all these years in the jungle. So Mrs. Peel, a little regretfully, went obediently off to the joys of housewifery—and Miss Diana Rigg who played the part, was on her way back to the stage and movies.

Consistency is the last refuge of the unimaginative.

On visiting a critically ill lawyer in the hospital, his friend found him propped up in bed, frantically leafing through the Bible.

Mr. Brown (the friend)—What are you doing?
Replied the lawyer:
Lawyer Black—Looking for loopholes.

Jack—Did you hear the joke about the film star?
Mack—No, what is it?
Jack—Her secretary didn't keep the records straight and now she finds she has had two more divorces than she's had weddings.

Little Bobby (bragged to a friend)—My grandmother is so old, that when they lit the candles on her birthday cake last week, six people in the room were overcome by the heat.

Jerry—I suppose Thompson is the most pious fellow I know. James—Why, he never struck me that way. In fact I always thought him rather worldly.
Jerry—Well, I happen to know for a fact that he never kisses his girl without saying grace.
James—Why, what in the world does he do that for?
Jerry—That's her name.

In Pueblo Notes

Red Hand Suspected

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say letters from captive Pueblo crewmen to their families at home appear a new North Korean bid to wrest an apology from President Johnson.

Some relatives of crewmen, in telling Wednesday of receiving such letters, expressed suspicions they were written under North Korean supervision.

A Reported Urging

Catherine O'Bannon, wife of Michael O'Bannon, 21, a fireman on the intelligence vessel when it was captured Jan. 23 off North Korea's coast, said the letter she received repeatedly urged her to tell U.S. authorities the Pueblo violated the Communist nation's territorial waters.

Mrs. Warren Hayes of Columbus, Ohio, said the letter apparently written by her son, Radioman 2.C. Lee Hayes, described the Pueblo as an espionage ship spying in North Korean waters, asked the United States to admit this and apologize, and added:

"I ask you as my parents to do the same."

Officials in Washington noted such requests closely paralleled those in a letter—purportedly signed by all 82 surviving Pueblo crewmen—which North Korea made public earlier this month.

That letter, addressed to President Johnson, urged him to "frankly admit" the alleged violation and apologize.

The administration has declined to disclose what action might be taken in response to that appeal.

Top administration officials, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk and former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, have maintained that to the best of their knowledge the Pueblo did not penetrate North Korean waters.

At the same time they have conceded that, since the ship was operating under radio si-

$3.3 Billion for Vietnam?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional sources say the administration is expected soon to ask $3.3 billion more for the Vietnam war, a request likely to spark another round of war policy debate on Capitol Hill.

Half for More Troops

The sources said Wednesday that about half the still tentative request would be earmarked for sending about 35,000 more U.S. troops to the war zone—a reported manpower move already under sharp congressional attack.

Defense Department officials told Congress in January they did not estimate any need for a supplement to defense funds voted last year, barring unforeseen emergencies. But their statements came just days before the Viet Cong launched its massive Tet offensive. Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D. Ark., of the Foreign Relations Committee, said meanwhile that reported advance notice from the White House to key Congress members on troop increases "is exactly the sort of thing I've been complaining about."

Reports on Capitol Hill say some Congress members already have been told President Johnson has decided to send 35,000 more men to Vietnam. Fulbright has been demanding that Congress be consulted before such decisions are made.

Serious Matter, Fulbright — "Any increase would be a serious matter," he said in an interview. "Do they mean 35,000 now and 35,000 more in a few months, or what do they mean? Those are the sort of questions that should be asked before any decision is made."

He added that White House conferences with congressional leaders do not contribute his idea of full consultation, nor do contacts between individual senators and the administration.

"They get four or five people together and tell them, 'This is what we've decided,'" Fulbright said.

The Arkansas Democrat said he had not heard from the White House on the troop-increase reports. Gen. David M. Shoup, former Marine Corps commandant, appeared before Fulbright's committee to say a military victory in South Vietnam is impossible. He submitted a peace plan proposing that:

The Peace Plan

1. The United States and South Vietnam ask Hanoi to schedule negotiations, with North Vietnam fixing the degree of participation by the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong.

2. When the talks start, there would be a halt to U.S.-South Vietnamese offensive operations, with the right reserved to continue observation activities.

3. North Vietnam would not have to halt offensive operations as a condition for talks but refusal to do so would be interpreted by the United States and South Vietnam as meaning Hanoi is not interested in a peaceful settlement.

4. If North Vietnam did halt its offensives, the talks could proceed with the goal of withdrawing U.S. and other outside combat forces from South Vietnam.
